Both Barry, Rocky Like Ike Who Won't Bless Either Now

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Both Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller have praised former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement defining the views which he hopes the 1964 Republican presidential nominee will hold.

The two rivals for California's 86 Republican National Convention delegates worked opposite ends of the state Monday in the final week of campaigning as the only contenders in the state's June 2 presidential primary.

In San Diego, Rockefeller said he feels his position falls within the framework of the Eisenhower views and that Goldwater's does not.

Prepared Statement

Goldwater issued a prepared statement through an aide in Redding, applauding Eisenhower for what he called "a public rebuke to those who would rule or ruin" the Republican party.

The Arizona senator refused to elaborate on the prepared statement. He brushed aside newsmen who sought to question him on it at the Redding and Sacramento airports.

Rockefeller personally read a prepared statement to a San Diego news conference. In it he said:

"I agree with President Eisenhower that only through following the principles and extending the policies of the 1960 and 1956 platforms, and building upon the record of achievement of the Eisenhower administration, can the Republican party provide a sound basis for its 1964 platform, the choice of its 1964 candidates, and Republican victory this November.

(Read complete Eisenhower text and editorial on page 4).

Goldwater has refused to endorse the 1960 GOP platform, which Eisenhower said defined the course of a candidate of forward looking Republicanism." Goldwater has called instead for a general statement of Republican principles.

His statement said he welcomed Eisenhower's "repeated affirmation of those basic Republican principles upon which my candidacy is based."

Issues Challenge

"I challenge all candidates—announced and unannounced—who are joined in opposing me here in California to say publicly now, as I do, and as General Eisenhower has repeatedly done—that they will support the nominee of the Republican convention."

Answering a news conference question, Rockefeller declined to say specifically that he believes the Eisenhower statement favors his candidacy for the presidential nomination.

There were signs that Goldwater was taken by surprise by the Eisenhower views, published in the New York Herald Tribune.

He called off a scheduled news conference appearance in Sacramento with a group of congressional supporters flying in from Washington to help his California campaign.

A Goldwater aide said the senator would not comment further on the Eisenhower statement, at least until Tuesday. He said the day's campaign schedule was too hectic for more immediate comment.

Goldwater's statement said he was pleased that Eisenhower had declared that equal opportunity not only of law "but also of the human heart and spirit."

Emotional Appeal

Goldwater continued: "I have said over and over again, and will continue to say, that the key to racial and religious intolerance lies not in laws alone but, ultimately, in the hearts of men.'

Eisenhower asserted the nation has "the profound moral obligation. . . that we not only improve our behaviour but also strengthen our laws" in the civil rights field.

Eisenhower declared his pride in the civil rights leadership of Republicans in Congress in the past two years. The GOP leadership now is working for passage of a compromise version of the administration's civil rights bill.

Goldwater has called unconstitutional the public accommodations and fair employment practices sections of the bill.

Rockefeller cited Eisenhower's support for the United Nations, foreign aid, and civil rights legislation. He said these were issues which Goldwater opposed or had voted against.

Rockefeller also pointed to Eisenhower's declaration there is no room for an impulsive foreign policy.

Rockefeller contended that Goldwater had proposed sending Marines into Cuba to turn on water cut off from Guantanamo Naval Base by Cuban Communists. He said Goldwater had suggested that low yield atomic weapons could be used to clear foliage and uncover Communist supply lines in Viet Nam.

In Washington Eisenhower attended an American Bar Association session where a newsman said:

"My editor wants to know if Senator Goldwater fits your specifications.'

Eisenhower replied:

"Let him—the editor — try to fit that shoe to that foot."

NEWS BRIEFS

NBC News Cops TV Awards

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — NBC's Huntley-Brinkley Report scoring its sixth straight victory, won an Emmy as the best achievement in television news reporting at the 16th annual Television Academy Awards Monday night.

NBC made it a shutout in the news division by winning another Emmy for best achievement in news commentary or public affairs with three 'White Paper" programs: "Cuba: Parts I and II," "The Bay of Pigs" and "The Missile Crisis."

The "Dick Van Dyke Show" scored a grand sweep in the comedy division, winning Emmies for best program, best direction — Jerry Paris — and writing — Carl Reiner, Sam Persky, Bill Denhoff.

Reds Encircle Neutral Army

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — About one-third of the battered neutralist army, surrounded by Communist forces near the Plaine des Jarres, was locked in battle Monday in an all-out effort to break out of the trap.

The Defense Ministry said 1,500 neutralist troops and 23 tanks, routed from a stronghold at Muong Kheung on the northwestern fringe of the strategic plaine, had been trying in vain since Sunday night to make a breakthrough.

Military sources said reports from the battle zone, 110 miles northeast of Vientiane, indicated it was the heaviest fighting since the Pathet Lao Reds launched their offensive from the Plaine 10 days ago and threw the neutralists into retreat.

Mass Suicide For Family

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The father cried, "If anyone does not wish to die, get out of here immediately!" Then, he lay down with his wife and three children to die under the wheels of an onrushing freight train.

A 12-year-old daughter leaped up before the train bore down and survived.

This mass suicide took place at Congup near Chonju last week, the Korea Times reported Monday.

Officials said they did not not know why the family committed suicide. Other reports attributed it to family complications and poverty.

Dirksen Voices Rights Optimism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen predicted late Monday the votes will be obtained to shut off the long debate and pass a revised civil rights bill.

Dirksen gave this estimate to newsmen after GOP senators held their fifth and final caucus on a package of amendments to the bill.

The Illinois senator said the package probably will be introduced Tuesday afternoon under bipartisan sponsorship of the Senate's four top-ranking leaders.

Gang-Fighters Fined, Jailed

LONDON (AP) — Judges in 10 cities in England and Wales have sentenced more than 120 youths arrested for gang fights that have plagued this country for the last fortnight.

Jail sentences ranging to six months and fines up to $140 were imposed Monday on convicted boys and girls. In some courts adults also were sentenced for rioting or obstructing police.

Volume Dips On Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Strength in Chrysler was the highlight of a generally dull and quiet stock market Monday. The list was down slightly at the end after an irregular session.

The day's volume, however dipped to 4 million shares from 4.65 million Friday. Not since Jan. 31 has trading sunk to such a low total on the big board.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined .62 to 820.25.

Crowe Praised For Lifework At Golden Deeds Dinner

MARSHALLS CREEK — "Monroe County has been good to me. It helped me to succeed and it elected me to high office. I feel that I owe a great deal to the county.' '

Montgomery F. Crowe, state senator for 16 years from 1939 to 1955, was serious for a minute after receiving the 16th annual Golden Deeds Award of the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club last night at the Mountain Lake House.

But it didn't last long.

He launched into a series of characteristic jokes, saying, "A lot of funny things have happened to me in Monroe County. . .but I won't tell the stories I tell to the Ekks."

Crowe is president of the board of the trustee of the General Hospital of Monroe County; president of Pocono Mountains Industries Inc., industrial development arm of the Chamber of Commerce; and an East Stroudsburg real estate man who lives in Stroudsburg.

"I'm proud of what we have done in Monroe County because our neighboring communities have large industrial funds while we brought 14 new industries to the county in 15 years without a penny of expense," Crowe said.

Senator Scott Praise

State Senator William Z. Scott of Lansford, Crowe's Republican protege, said, "Tonight we are paying tribute to a builder. . .I want to publicly express my gratitude to Senator Crowe. I owe a great deal to him."

Senator Scott, who represents the same senatorial district Senator Crowe served for four terms, said Crowe first helped him with a senatorial scholarship which enabled him to attend law school.

He said Crowe then campaigned for him when Scott first was elected to the state House of Representatives.

After eight years, he said Crowe "took me by the hand and led me all over the senatorial district and I would venture to say that he worked harder in my first senate campaign that he did for himself."

Bensinger Tribute

Alex L. Bensinger, past president of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, saluted Crowe's work in bringing new industries to Monroe County.

"Monty has been the leader in industrial growth for the past decade. . .We will never know the whole story," Bensinger said.

Henry Evans, past president of the Exchange Club, presented the Golden Deeds Award plaque to Crowe, saying, "Through his untiring efforts, various new industries, giving employment to many have located in Monroe County."

Gordon L. Coy, president of the club, introduced Gilbert E. Dunning, toastmaster for the last 11 Golden Deeds Award dinners. At the end of the ceremony Dunning said he was retiring in favor of Crowe "who joked me out of a job."

State House Okays College Aid Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House of Representatives gave final approval Monday to $1.104 billion worth of spending bills, including money to finance the bulk of government operations in fiscal 1964-65.

Also in the package sent to the Senate for further action were $34.6 million worth of special state aid to private institutions, including $25.1 million for Pennsylvania State University.

The Senate also devoted some attention to financial matters as both chambers cleared the decks for possible final adjournment of the 1964 session within the next two weeks.

The Senate Appropriations Committee sent to the floor nonpreferred appropriations totaling $23.1 million. The total value of the so-called non-preferreds is about $58 million.

The general appropriation bill totaling $1.069 of Gov. Scranton's proposed $1.168 billion dollar budget for the year beginning July 1, was approved 175-0.

The measure contains $2.5 million more than the governor asked for in support of the Commonwealth's 14 state colleges. The extra money, voted by the House last week, is causing something of a financial headache for the administration, but it is expected to remain intact.

Despite the drive for final adjournment, Chairman Robert Fleming of the Senate Appropriations Committee plans careful study of the appropriations bill.

"I don't expect it to be reported out of committee until next week," he said. "I do expect most of the $2.3 million added by the House for the state colleges to remain."

Rocket Shot Attempt Today

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The world's most powerful known rocket, a Saturn I, is poised for an attempt Tuesday to orbit an unmanned model of the Project Apollo moonship.

The great rocket, which with the spacecraft stands 19 stories high, was scheduled to rumble into the sky in a launching period between 9 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. EST.

The firing is the first of a long series of unmanned flights to qualify the hardware for earth orbit missions by three-man Apollo crews and leading ultimately to manned landings on the moon.

Mob Blames Panic-Caused Deaths On Cops, Tear-Gas

LIMA, Peru (AP)—An angry mob marched on the home of a police commander Monday but was blocked by police reinforcements struggling to keep order after rioting and panic at a Sunday soccer game killed hundreds.

The marchers accused Commander Jorge de Asambuja of having ordered tear gas fired into the crowd.

The demonstration underscored Peruvian government concern that led to a modified form of martial law following the tragedy at Lima's National Stadium. Mounted police were kept busy breaking up groups of angry people around the stadium.

Authorities still were counting bodies and no official death total was given. Newspaper estimates ran from 260 to 315 dead in the sport world's worst disaster. Hundreds more were injured.

Some eyewitnesses blamed locked exit gates for the deaths of many in the mass of humanity that piled up trying to get out of the stadium. This view was shared by De Asambuja, who headed the police at the stadium.

There were 45,000 persons in the stands when, with Argentina leading 1-0, a goal for Peru was nullified by the referee who said a foul was committed before the goal.

Fighting broke out among some fans and police as the referee and players were escorted from the field after the game was declared ended with Argentina the winner.

Some witnesses said disaster came when police fired tear gas into the stands, causing the crowd to stampede to the exits.

De Asambuja denied this.

He said six grenades were fired in an effort to break up fighting on the field but none was fired into the stands.

A husky soccer fan was reported under arrest as the first spectator to leap onto the field in pursuit of the referee. Police identified him as Matias "Bomba" (The Bomb) Rojas, about 35, who has a reputation as a referee baiter.

For Convention

Morton, Hatfield Get GOP Nods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican National Convention Arrangements Committee has named Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky as permanent chairman and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon as keynote speaker and temporary chairman of the 1964 convention.

The action came Monday after the committee voted 28 to 20 to combine the offices of temporary chairman and keynoter for the first time since the 1948 convention.

GOP National Chairman William Miller, announcing the results of the closed meeting, said the decision to combine the two offices was made in order to cut down on some of the speech-making at the convention which begins July 13 in San Francisco.

Backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, opposed the move to combine the two jobs. And Goldwater supporters offered Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana for the keynoter-temporary chairman job.

But after the election, F. Clifton White, co-director of field operations for Goldwater, said he was pleased with the selection of Morton and said he had always felt Hatfield should be on the program.

Morton was elected without opposition, Miller said, while Hatfield defeated Babcock by 28 to 10.

Yanks In Viet Nam Thanked

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — It was a bright world and pleasant suburban living for a young couple except for the nagging thought that their fellow citizens were dying thousands of miles away in a strange war.

The couple's concern produced a "thank you" note which has reached American troops in Viet Nam after traveling through the highest channels of the armed forces.

"We just had to write and let them know people are thinking them," explained Mr. and Mrs. William Geiger of suburban Kettering.

Neither 31-year-old Geiger nor his brunette wife know anyone serving in Viet Nam. But they read a magazine article of letters from Capt. Edwin Shank, a pilot killed in Viet Nam.

"He wrote to his wife about how Americans were fighting and dying in Viet Nam and nobody cared," Geiger said. "I was very moved by what he said and I just felt like I had to write a letter."

"We thought that we would just let them know that we appreciate what they are doing for us. There must be many other people who feel the same way," explained Mrs. Geiger.

The letter said:

"My family and I wish to acknowledge that we care very much about your fighting in South Viet Nam. We realize, were it not for men like you in Viet Nam, the situation in that country would be a graver threat to free men throughout the world.

"Although this is a meager token of our appreciation, we want you to know our heartfelt thanks and gratitude are with you. Were it not for men like you throughout America history, a country great as ours could not be.

"May God grant you strength and wisdom to see the battle through."

Computer Sparks Romances

AMES, Iowa (AP) — The computer did about everything except ring the wedding bells.

Last October, an electronic computer was used to mates students for an Iowa State University dance. About 1,000 were paired off according to similarities in their replies to a long questionnaire.

Out came numbers 555 and 361 for a pair. Those were the numbers of Paul Kalkwarf, 23, of Belmond and Louise Farmer, 23, of Rock Island, Ill. As a result, they met for the first time. Now, they expect to be married in August.

Another of the paired couples is engaged. They are William Brindley, 26, and Vivian McCollom, 24, both of Ames.

Two other matched pairs say they plan to marry this year.

But the machine matching didn't work out in all cases.

High Court Orders Quick Integration In Virginia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ordered Monday "quick and effective" action to reopen the long-closed public schools of Virginia's Prince Edward County, on an integrated basis.

U.S. District Court in Richmond was given broad power to guarantee Negro children there "an education equal to that afforded" by Virginia's other public schools—which are integrated.

The court was told it could bring state officials or others in to the case and even require that the county supervisers levy the necessary taxes.

The decision struck a blow at a state-county system of grants to finance private segregated schools, but did not specifically outlaw such a system. It left unclear what would happen to this system after the reopening of public schools closed in 1959 to block integration.

Thus, the U.S. District Court is left free to give its own interpretation of the fate of the system.

Prince Edward County and Virginia State officials had no immediate comment on the ruling.

Justice Hugo L. Black, speaking for the court, noted that Prince Edward's schools were among those involved in the high tribunal's historic 10-year-old school integration decree and the 1955 implementing guide line of "all deliberate speed."

"The time for more 'deliberate speed' has run out," Black said, "and that phrase can no longer justify denying these Prince Edward County school children their constitutional rights."

Justices Tom C. Clark and John M. Harland said they disagree with the holding that federal courts are impowered to order the county to reopen its schools. They added that they agree, however, with "the court's opinion," but they did not amplify. The other seven justices joined in the whole decision.

In another school integration case, the tribunal unanimously directed the U.S. District Court in Atlanta to take a new look at what an unsigned court order called the city's "commendable effort to effect desegregation."

The city set up a new policy in April a month after the court had heard arguments on Atlanta's grade-a-year integration plan, which Negroes said was too slow.

The new plan stepped up the system a bit to take in the high school grades through the eighth and to permit freer transfers from one school to another.

Court Considers Vote Challenges

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Supreme Court took under advisement Monday arguments over the validity of 510 absentee ballots cast in Philadelphia which could tilt the extremely close contest for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

Chief Justice John C. Bell Jr. hinted during two-hours of arguments by opposing Democratic factions that the high court might lift his ban against counting the ballots.

"I don't see how we can do anything once the ballots have been opened, but to allow them to be counted," Bell said.

His comment came after attorney Philip Kalodner, counsel for a group backing Genevieve Blatt for the nomination, agreed that the ballots in question could no longer be identified with individual voters because they had been separated from their identifying envelopes.

Bell's comment was his own and a formal decision will be made after study by the five justices sitting during the arguments.

Justice Michael A. Musmanno opposing Miss Blatt for the nomination with the backing of the statewide democratic organization, did not participate. Justice Herbert B. Cohen also was absent.

The court's decision could be crucial because the latest unofficial figures show that Miss Blatt holds about a 250-vote edge over Musmanno with a recount of machine votes in progress in Philadelphia.

Blatt Leads Musmanno By 716 Votes

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Genevieve Blatt gained 469 more votes Monday in the recount of Philadelphia's primary machine recorded ballots, increasing her statewide lead to 716 over Justice Michael A. Musmanno in their battle for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator.

Only 13 of the city's 60 wards remain to be rechecked, and this is expected to be completed Tuesday.

Since the total machine recount was ordered last week Miss Blatt has picked up 910 votes in Philadelphia, where over 20 per cent of the state's million Democratic ballots were cast.

PTA Urged To Buck Negro Extremists

CHICAGO (AP) — The Negro president of the San Francisco School Board urged the national PTA Monday to "stand up and be counted" on civil rights issues and not abdicate its responsibility to extremist groups.

James E. Stratten accused the more militant Negro organizations of "exploiting children, breeding violence and doing irreparable harm to the Negro youngsters they are allegedly trying to help."

Some of this he attributed to "Communists getting involved and trying to take over."

Stratten told delegates to the annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, "declare yourselves on all issues concerning children and youth . . . stand up and be counted."

He added in an interview, "This is the proper business of the PTA with its 12 million members, the nation's largest organization devoted to child welfare. The PTA cannot sit silently in the back row and let other organizations take over the leadership."

The national PTA never has had a strong platform on civil rights or school segregation.

The 1954 policy statement by the board of managers merely urged PTA leaders to "study and pursue effective means in working toward a just solution to the complex problems of segregation in public schools."

Shortly before the 1954 PTA convention the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that segregation of schools was unconstitutional.

Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins of Roslyn Heights, N.Y., president of the National Congress, said she fully expects a stronger position to be put forward and approved later this week by convention delegates.

Stratten said, "Many of the people involved in the battle for civil rights do not have in their hearts a better life for the Negro. Much of their activity is misguided self - aggrandizement.

"I have seen groups supposedly picketing for jobs for Negroes when they were really recruiting Negroes into shoddy organizations.

"It is unfortunate that we cannot get started on anything for the betterment of our people without the Communists getting involved and trying to take over.

"I believe that where you find violence you also will find the smooth hand of the left-wingers in the background."

Lippi Draws 5 Years In Jail

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—August J. Lippi, president of United Mine Workers Union District 1, was sentenced Monday to five years in jail for conspiring to defraud the bank he once headed in his home town.

It was the second prison term imposed on the 64-year-old Lippi this year. On Jan. 20 he was sentenced to three years and fined $5,000 on income tax charges.

Judge William J. Nealon also fined Lippi $10,000 and fixed probation for five years to begin when he gets out of prison.

Lippi's attorney is appealing both sentences and the union leader remained free in bond.

Lippi's UMW jurisdiction covers most of the anthracite producing sections of northeastern Pennsylvania.

Lippi was convicted last November of defrauding the former First National Bank of Exeter, Pa., of $38,977. Federal agents testified their examination disclosed an alleged shortage of about a half million dollars in the bank's funds.

Judge Blasts Archaic Jails

READING, Pa. (AP) — Judge Clinton Budd Palmer of Northampton County Common Pleas Court said that "archaic county jails" should be replaced with regional institutions.

The regional institutions, he said, should have adequate facilities "to separate the tried from the untried prisoner, the youthful from the experienced criminal, the sexual aberrant from opportunities to corrupt, and with facilities for an attempt, at least, to rehabilitate."

Palmer, chairman of the Advisory Council of Judges of the Pennsylvania Council on Crime and Delinquency, addressed the annual conference of the Pennsylvania Association of Probation, Parole and Correction.

100 Break Up Housing Project

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A gang of about 100 men burst into a housing project being renovated by non-union labor today and began swinging clubs, axes and sledgehammers, police said.

Six men in the 35-man non-union force of carpenters, painters, plumbers and bricklayers were injured as they fled a barrage of bricks and stones.

All told, 12 houses were damaged — locks smashed, drainpipes ripped out, kitchen cabinets and iron rails torn loose.

Builder Roy Fulman, 32, said the invasion lasted about five minutes. He estimated damage at between $12,000 and $15,000. The houses once belonged to Jefferson Hospital. They now are being refurbished as a private redevelopment project.

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Scranton received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree Sunday at Waynesburg College's 113th commencement.

In a brief talk, Scranton said the nation is moving ahead in material things, adding, "But we are not gaining in the fields of government and human relations."

He called for greater stress on education.

Hectic World In Short

The bizarre highlighted the news this weekend.

A Long Island woman has asked a Brooklyn appeals court to order a corpse dug up and blood tests made in an effort to prove that she is the dead woman's daughter and thus heir to $4 million estate.

The deceased Mrs. Julia Loft was the widow of a candy tycoon. She died two years ago this month.

Now a petition has been filed by Mrs. Edith Nolan, 63 of Rockville Center who claims she is the unrecognized daughter.

A Sacremento man told officers he had killed his three small children because he thought they would be better off in heaven.

"I felt I had a duty," Robert Henry Nicolaus was quoted by the sheriff's office.

The self-confessed killer said he shot the children in the backs of their heads in a car trunk.

President Johnson is worried about America's feet.

In a recent release, he points out that the average American will walk 65,000 miles in his lifetime so it behooves everyones to take care of his feet.

The president made no reference to his own walking habits which have included fast-paced news conferences around the quarter mile pathways in the White House backyard.

Sen. Stephen Young D-Ohio, believes that Civil Defense authorities have wasted a billion and a half dollars in 13 years.

Now, he said, they've asked for $358 million to continue what the senator calls the "fantastic Civil Defense boondoggle."

"What is even more amazing," he said, is that $124 million of the amount—for bomb shelters — has not yet been authorized by law and very likely will not be."

Commie 'Mad Ave' In Future

LONDON (AP) — The man in the gray flannel suit is moving among the crowds of Moscow.

The day may not be too far off when commercials plugging American girdles or British electric toothbrushes are seen on Moscow television.

For the Russians are now coming around to the idea: advertising, a basic ingredient of Western capitalist society, has its rightful place in Communist society too.

Russia, which always went by the motto that it didn't pay to advertise, is changing its tune—sign of another subtle change in the Soviet way of life. Recently the official government paper Izvestia complained that because there was not enough advertising in the country many people did not know what goods there were to buy.

Some Soviet products, it said, were like cats in a bag—no one knew of their qualities.

Ironically for the Russians, many Western business firms have been beating them at their own game, and on the Russians' home ground.

For months now — at the invitation of the Soviet government—they have been advertising a vast variety of goods, from brassieres to bulldozers, in Soviet trade magazines.

There has always been a catch — the mass of the Soviet people have never seen the ads. Even if they had they could not just go down to the store on the corner and buy.

The magazines in which the ads have appeared so far are mostly technical and trade journals read by experts and factory mananagers, leaders of industry whose opinions and tastes can influence those who draw up the state lists of purchases from abroad.

"What we are trying to do is to create a market," says Stan Rokosz, head of a London publicity organization under contract to the Soviet government to channel all British advertising for the Soviet press.

"The theory is this: the magazines are read by tens of thousands of experts in all kind of technical fields. If they are influenced by the ads, or think that this or that product should be imported, they go to the chiefs of the state buying organizations. If the buying chiefs are convinced, then the ad has done its job."

Once the goods start flowing into the country, then is the best time to start advertising on a wider scale, in popular magazines and newspapers and on television, says Rokosz.

Vneshtorgizdat, the Soviet state publicity organization, has turned out a glossy brochure wooing Western firms over to the advantages of advertising in the Soviet Union, to the big consumer markets waiting for them in a country of 220 million people whose standard of living, it says, is constantly rising.

'Artichoke' Nikita Ends Red-Selling African Trip

He got the nickname because the Egyptians found Khrushchev hard to pronounce, while artichoke — which comes out "karshoof" in Arabic — seemed to fit handily.

From a tumultous greeting in Alexandria 17 days ago to his climactic dedication of the first stage of the Soviet-financed Aswan Dam, Khrushchev's dumpy figure proved a crowd pleaser such as Egypt had never seen.

Nina At His Side

Though Khrushchev occasionally upset his hosts with his outspoken manner and publicly argued with Nasser over the nationalist versus Communist interpretation of Arab unity, such bobbles cost little. And there was every indication that, speaking privately to Nasser and his heir apparent Abdel Hakim Amer, Egypt's defense boss, Khrushchev persuasively argued that Soviet and Arab interests were identical.

A solid indication of Khrushchev's success was Nasser's remark that the Aswan Dam had put Russia's mark for all time on the African continent—a situation which Nasser evidently did not find disturbing.

Lot Going For Him

In fact, Khrushchev had so much going for him in Egypt he couldn't have failed without a real effort. Since the formation of Israel and later the Suez war, Western standing in the Arab world has been delicate.

Red China's influence is negligible. Khrushchev, on the other hand, is a man who furnished a billion dollars' worth of tanks and jets, who financed the Aswan Dam and who brandished his rockets at the West at the time of Suez.

The wily Soviet leader, of course, knew all this beforehand. He picked the spot for his first African visit with care and timed it for drama. His propaganda target was not only Egypt but all Africa, Asia and to a lesser extent Latin America. And he came with a $277-million loan to insure his welcome.

No Haymakers

Against such a background, it is somewhat surprising to many Western diplomats in Cairo that Khrushchev did not unload more haymakers.

One theory is that Khrushchev's straining economy and ideological tilt with Peking sharply limit his room to maneuver.

At any rate he stuck mainly to his line of peaceful coexistence—a sure winner in neutralist Egypt—and the equally popular theme that genuine socialism must give the workers more goulash to win the ideological battle with the West.

Car Crash Injuries Fatal

MILFORD — A 53-year-old man died of crash injuries and an 11-year-old boy was hospitalized after a one-car accident on Rt. 6, one mile west of Milford.

Peter Valla, of New York City, died yesterday at 4 a. m. of injuries suffered in the crash. He suffered a compound skull fracture, crushed chest, broken neck and internal injuries. He was rushed to St. Francis Hospital, Port Jervis, N. Y., and remained in critical condition until his death.

According to troopers of the Milford Substation, Valla was a passenger in a car driven by James Boggi, 53, of New York City, who was unhurt in the crash.

Boggi's son, James, Jr., was riding in the back seat of the car and suffered skull cuts and a right knee injury. He was admitted to St. Francis Hospital.

Boggi apparently lost control of the car, crossed to the left lane, ramming a bridge abutment and plunged 25 feet over an embankment into a creek.

$166,551 In Uncollected Taxes Filed With Treasurer

STROUDSBURG — A total of $166,551 in uncollected taxes were listed in the office of the county treasurer since May, 1, according to Warren Loney, treasurer.

May 1 was the deadline for the local tax collectors to make lists of the uncollected taxes in their areas and turn them in to Loney. The returned taxes were totaled last week.

Loney said that the list of uncollected taxes would now be sent to the county commissioners for certification. He said that after certification, the list would be sent back to him for collection.

Loney said that if the delinquent taxpayer still refuses to pay his taxes, he may order the sheriff to sell the taxpayer's property at public auction held in the courthouse.

There the property is sold ac*cording to regular auction* rules. Loney added that the taxpayer may redeem his property within two years by paying his delinquent taxes, but that he must then pay the buyer interest. After the two year period, he has no definite option to buy back the land.

Commenting on the list of taxes, Loney said that Coolbaugh's delinquent taxes were high because a government housing project there—Tobyhanna Village—was listed on the tax books but not required to pay taxes, since it was federal property.

Municipalities and their delinquent taxes were:

Airport Authority Lists $134,000 Building Plans

STROUDSBURG — Members of the Mount Pocono Airport Authority yesterday outlined financial plans for a $134,000 building and renovating project at the Pocono Mountains Airport to the county commissioners.

Present for the airport authority were its chairman, R. LeRoy Dengler, treasurer; E. Rodger Miller, and architect, L. M. Caruthers.

Commissioners Stanley Rader, John Price, and Stuart Pipher heard plans outlined.

Dengler said that Aero-Mod will probably relinquish its lease on the airport by June 1, as soon as legal work is done.

Miller told of the project. He said that the plans were only tentative, and were based on idea outlined at a meeting May 5. "We have no contractor's costs yet, just our own estimates," he said.

"Revenue for the project is based on $24,000 being held up by the Federal Aviation Administration due to the failure of Coolbaugh Twp. to close a stretch of road," he said. Dengler added that work on an al*ternate road has begun again,* and the money should be forthcoming.

"Also we anticipate $15,000 per year from the county commissioners and at least one-quarter mill in tax revenue from the contributing municipalities," Miller said.

Miller said that the original total cost estimate was $128,329 but that the elimination of overhead doors and some paving brought a savings of $13,775 — reducing the cost to $114, 554.

Hanger, Office Space

The project includes a hanger and office space, as well as renovation and resurfacing of some runways.

Added to this $114,554 will be $8,000 local cost for repairing the back runway (total cost $32,000 — FFA pays half, state pays quarter), $1,000 for legal work and administrative, including the drawing up of leases and agreements and so forth; $1,446 for additional repairs, and $1,000 for annual maintenance.

Added to this will be $8,000 in interest on the money, bringing the cost to $134,000.

"It will take us until 1973 to pay off the loans and debts." Miller said.

It was then suggested by commissioner Pipher that a meeting of the contributing township's supervisors be held for the purpose of voting through the quarter-mill tax.

Dengler said that he wil try to set up the meeting for June 2 at 8 p.m. in the Mt. Pocono, municipal building. Contributing municipalities are Mt. Pocono, Pocono, Paradise, Tunkhannock, Tobyhanna, and Barrett.

After the tax is approved, Dengler said he would want Caruthers to start on plans right away.

In other business, a bid for lighting fixtures on the first floor of the courthouse was approved.

The low bid was awarded to Ed Rahn — trading under the name of Matt Kime Electic—with a quotation of $3,790. D. Katz and Sons submitted a bid of $4,500 and Henry F. Peters asked $3,806 for the work.

Bell Electric of Scranton also submitted a bid but did not follow the specifications. Rahn was awarded the bid provided his contract contained all the specifications.

The commissioners announced that county offices will close at noon on Friday, but that the courthouse will remain open.

Also John Litts, county schools superintendent, met with the commissioners con*cerning his moving the county* school offices from 509 Scott St. to the courthouse.

Sheriff Edward Melzgar agreed to move from the first floor to the second, and Litts said that he would occupy the first floor sheriff's office and another office in the newly renovated basement.

The building at 509 Scott St. will be used to house the Cancer Society, the Heart Assn., and the Veteran's Administration.

Burglars On Prowl In Area

STROUDSBURG — A recent crime wave in the Stroudsburg area netted thieves nearly $2,000 in business machines and other household items.

Robert E. Smith, chief of police in Delaware Water Gap, reported yesterday that thieves had broken into the Delaware Water Gap Diner sometime late last week.

Entry was gained by cutting a lock on the cellar door and removing items from the cellar, Smith said.

Thieves took a 50-gallon hot water heater, which they cut out of the wall; an eight inch meat saw; a 30-cup coffee maker and an adding machine type cash register, he added. The stolen gods amounted to about $225.

In other burglaries, Travis G. Seese, East Stroudsburg chief of police said the Star Furniture Co., at 727 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, was burglarized early Saturday morning.

Thieves gained entrance by breaking a window in the rear of the building, he said.

The store reported that a washing machine, adding machine; clock radio, and $15 dollars in change was taken. The stolen goods were valued at $450.

Meanwhile, Courtland Motors at 26 N. 2nd St., Stroudsburg, reported a burglary early Saturday morning. Sol Rothstein, proprietor, of Courtland Motors said entry was gained before Elmer Fleming opened the shop at 7 a.m.

Rothstein reported that thieves entered by breaking a glass in the door at the rear of the building.

He reported that a transistor radio; electric adding machine; typewriter; a combination cash register and billing machine, which contained $2 in change, and a dealers Red Book had been stolen. He estimated a lose of about $800.

In a fourth burglary thives netted $450 worth of equipment from the garage of Elmer M. Rinehart, at 1875 W. Main St., Stroudsburg.

Rinehart said thieves entered by breaking a window on the side of the building after mid*night Sunday. He reported that* a mechanics toolbox valued at $350 had been stolen. Also a coke machine was ruined and a cigarette machine damaged.

He said thieves had rifled his desk, went through his checkbooks, but did not remove any checks. He noted a set of dealers plates were missing.

Area police are investigating the series of burglaries. However, they do not know if the same individuals are involved in all four entries.

Luci Johnson Takes Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Baines Johnson, 16-year-old daughter of the President, has a summer job as an assistant to an optometrist who has been treating her.

Her doctor, Robert A. Kraskin, was enthusiastic about his new employe.

"She'll be terrific," he told a reported. "She already has proved herself good helping around here. She's a natural for it."

Luci will help with visual training for eight hours a day, three days a week.

She started a course last October with Kraskin to improve her visual strength and will finish it this summer.

The job, for which she will be paid, starts June 15 and lasts until school starts. Kraskin didn't think he should disclose the salary.

A native of Washington, he received his degree from Penn State College of Optometry in 1950 and has been practicing here since then.

Two More Camps Placed On Assessment Rolls

STROUDSBURG—One Monroe County camp had its tax exoneration confirmed and two others were placed on the assessment rolls yesterday in the office of the county commissioners.

The camps appeared before the chief assessor, the commissioners, the county solicitor and his retained attorney, and two deputy accessors.

The assessments were levied under state Act 295 of last year which allows counties to tax camps for land not used directly for the purpose of the camp.

Camp Dent, of Hamilton Twp., sponsored by the Allentown YMCA, was first.

C. A. Nauman, chief assessor, said that all the camp's 37 acres were exempted from assessment because the land was small, but that half the caretaker's house was being placed on the rolls.

This amount came to $1,525 assessed value.

It was then discerned that the camp was already exempt for 1964, and the representatives of the camp were told they would receive notice of the assessment for 1965.

Camp Cherith

Camp Cherith of Reeders was given an assessment of $2,000, and the camp representative called it "very fair."

Nauman said that of the 174 total acres, the camp was actually using 24, leaving 150 acres with the $2,000 assessment. Attorney Detleff Hansen also appeared for the camp.

Wyoming Council BS of A

The camp of the Wyoming Council Boy Scouts of America, located in Tobyhanna Twp., was given an assessment of $850.

Nauman said that the total acreage of the camp was 184 acres, and that 84 were actually used for the purposes of the camp, leaving 100 acres at $30 per acre.

This gave the 100 acres a market value of $3,000—diminished by 18 per cent due to location — or a net value of $2,460. Thirty-five per cent of this yielded the assessed value of $850.

The representatives of the camp agreed that this valuation and assessment was fair.

Fuel Tax Aid Okayed For 9 Areas

STROUDSBURG—Nine municipal applications for liquid fuels tax appropriations were approved yesterday by the Monroe County Commissioners.

According to William Reaser, chief clerk, the rest of the county's municipalities have not as yet submitted for approval.

Money is based on population and road mileage within a municipality. In many cases, the amount asked for might not be the amount received.

Municipalities have been submitting proposed road work to the county and hoping for as large an appropriation as possible. The funds must be used exclusively for road work, according to law.

The municipalities and their appropriations were.

Eastburg Woman Files Suit

STROUDSBURG — An East Stroudsburg woman has filed suit against the driver of the car in which she was riding when it collided with another car.

She has also named the driver of the second car as defendant.

The suit was filed by Doris E. Wilde, of 32 Borough St., East Stroudsburg, through her attorney, James R. Marsh.

It names Leon L. Canova of Mt. Pocono and George C. Kugler of Philadelphia, as defendants.

The suit in trespass contends that on May 30, 1962, Wilde was a passenger in a car driven by Canova. At about 12:25 a.m. the car was heading north on Rt. 611 about a quarter mile north of the Laurel Diner in Tannersville.

Alleges Excessive Rate

The suit alleges that Canova was driving at an excessive rate of speed and failed to signal Kugler that he was going to pass him. As he started to pass in the middle lane, Kugler allegedly crossed over in the middle lane and the cars collided.

Both drivers were said to have driven negligently by the suit.

The suit contends that Wilde suffered injuries to the chest and thorax, and to the left tibia. It says she had to expend money for medical expenses and for a baby sitter to care for her child.

The suit asks damages in excess of $2,000 but not in excess of $5,000.

L.V. Dedicates Flood Control

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — City officials have dedicated flood control works designed to handle floods 10 to 20 per cent greater than the largest on record.

In 1955, one of the largest floods on the Lehigh River caused damage of more than $12 million in Bethlehem alone. The following year, Congress appropriated funds for the project which, in its Bethlehem section, cost about $4,500,000 in federal funds, and $1,090,000 in state and city funds.

Other segments of the project are the Bear Creek Dam and Reservoir on the Lehigh River just below the mouth of Bear Creek near White Haven, com*pleted in June, 1961, and the Al*lentown protective works, completed in June, 1960.

45 Per Cent Of Eastburg Undeveloped

(This is the second in a series of articles reviewing the comprehensive plan and capital improvement program submitted to East Stroudsburg Borough Council by the borough planning commission.)

By GIL MURRAY
Daily Record Staff Reporter

EAST STROUDSBURG — A comprehensive plan for East Stroudsburg — a blueprint for the future — shows more than 45 per cent of all land in the borough is undeveloped.

The plan also indicates industrial growth is the life-blood of thte borough's future and the unused land must be pressed into service to accommodate industrial development.

Due to inadequate planning in the past, industrial, commercial and residential building has been done on a hit and miss basis, the plan points out.

Crazy-Quilt Pattern

This resulted in a crazy-quilt pattern of development and left almost half the borough undeveloped.

The planners, Candeub, Cabot and Associates of Scranton, made an intensive land use survey of the borough and came to the following conclusions:

—The central shopping center in the borough is an overdeveloped area centered around Crystal, Washington and North and South Courtland Streets.

—Industrial development has been clustered around the area adjacent to the Brodhead Creek bridge.

—With the advent of the automobile development began to inch toward the eastern and northern parts of the borough. This produced a ribbon-type housing and commercial development along the roads, which leaves the area in between relatively undeveloped.

The plan maintains this development pattern has been costly to the borough.

The scattered development has meant high cost municipal services, such as water and sewers. It has also resulted in a congested downtown area with poor street connections.

Urges Planning

To overcome these conditions the plan urges effective planning and zoning in the future.

It points out that over 51 per cent of the unused land is located in accessible and attractive areas and presents a vast potential to the borough.

East Stroudsburg as a well established community will be called on to absorb some of the industrial and population growth that will result from an expected industrialization of the county.

The borough will be aided in this project by being the hub of the interstate highway system—which will enhance the industrial and resort growth of the county as a whole.

The plan cautions new highways will demand the borough enact adequate land use controls to protect indiscriminate building at interchanges as well as the building of new service needs for these areas.

The borough is reminded in the plan that East Stroudsburg State College will be one of the borough's major attractions in the future.

The plan urges the borough "to insure the continued attractive development in the area surrounding the college."

The planners have also eyed the habitually flood-damaged land along Brodhead Creek. Because of flooding these areas have not been developed to their potential.

With the completion of the East Stroudsburg-Stroudsburg flood control project new and dramatic solutions to these problems will have to be devised in order to make these areas attractive to new development.

In the course of development new emphasis will have to be given to the thorny street problem in the borough, the planners maintain. They say new street and road construction will help to minimize this situation in the long run.

The plan uncovered the fact that 47 percent of all homes in the borough are more than 40 years old. The planners found that most of these homes have been kept in good repair, and have not resulted in blighted neighborhoods.

"Nevertheless, this is the area of the borough's housing supply which will demand special urban renewal measures in the near future to prevent neighborhood deterioration," says the plan, which was initiated in 1960.

Since that time the borough has undertaken two major urban renewal projects — the Courtland and Lincoln Streets projects.

Residential planning would result in three basic advantages:

The preservation of the exist*ing inventory of housing, elimin*ation of substandard dwellings and construction of new homes to meet the demands of an expanding population.

The planners' housing analysis showed eight out of every ten homes in the borough is either in excellent or good condition. The borough has 2,185 homes, not counting trailers.

217 Non-Residential

There are 217 non-residential structures scattered throughout the borough and of this total more than 56 per cent are in fair or poor condition it was found.

Mixed residential-commercial make up 35 per cent of total non-residential buildings and show a higher degree of "dilapidation than that for the non-residential structures as a group."

The planners found this is due because mixed commercial are *seldom replaced when they be*come obsolete for their intended function.

Juvenile Faces Motor Violation

STROUDSBURG — An East Stroudsburg juvenile was arrested and charged with failing to stop at the scene of an accident Sunday at 3:45 p. m. on Legislative Rt. 45025 near Red Rock Rd.

The youth was traveling south toward Analomink negotiating a curve when she sideswiped a car driven by Fey S. Evans, 17, of East Stroudsburg, RD 3. John Teada, of Stroudsburg, Star Rt., is the owner of the car Evans was driving.

Pauletta Henry, 17, of 822 Monroe St., Stroudsburg, a passenger in the Evans vehicle, escaped injury along with the two drivers.

Trooper Alfred Drozdowski, of Stroudsburg State Police, investigated the accident. Police estimate $125 damages.

WRINKLES
by Marie Davant

New York: — Chemical Science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all- "Old-Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms — brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars, outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticeable! But don't take my word for it. Make a 6-day test without risking one penny. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your favorite department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 6 days —and if you are not delighted with results, full price will be refunded. No questions asked. Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for wrinkles, lines, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Creme for $2.00 plus tax from Rea & Derrick rugs. Clip this out.

Ike Speaks

The statement on the Republican party reprinted below is an indication of the amazing vitality of former President Dwight Eisenhower. It proves that he is still—at 73—the leading spokesman and advocate of liberal Republicanism in America.

The statement is particularly important because it seems to confirm Governor Nelson Rockefeller's criticism of Senator Barry Goldwater as "out of the mainstream" of Republican party thought.

Although Eisenhower begins his statement with a refusal to dictate the Republican candidate for President in 1964, he effectively reads Goldwater "out of the mainstream" of the Republican party.

He does this by including among basic Republican principles vigorous support of civil rights legislation, federal government action to solve "national problems that require national solutions," loyal support of the United Nations, and strong endorsement of the Republican platform of 1960—positions which Goldwater either opposes or has criticized.

Eisenhower enumerates some federal government actions which were proposed or supported by Republicans during the Eisenhower administration of 1953 to 1961 to solve national problems.

The list—extended Social Security coverage, higher minimum wage for more workers, federal aid for hospital construction, medical aid for the aged, urban renewal, aid to depressed areas, and the interstate highway system—includes many objects of attack by Goldwater.

Eisenhower's statement is therefore an important statement of liberal Republican policies in an election year, which may see a conservative Republican nominated for the Presidency.

The former President's timing of the statement, shortly before the critical California primary June 2, indicates that while he may not dictate who the Republican candidate should be, he is quite willing to say who that candidate should not be.

Comment Of The Day

"Defoliation of the forests by low yield atomic weapons could well be done. When you remove the foliage, you remove the cover."

—Senator Barry Goldwater proposing atomic attacks on the Communist supply lines in Viet Nam jungles.

"He did not dare to say straightforwardly that the bomb would wipe everything living off the face of the much suffering land of South Viet Nam.

"The call of the modern cannibal cannot but arouse indignation. It is to be hoped that sober people will be found in the U. S. A. who can bring the crazy senator to his senses."

—Tass, the Soviet Russian news agency, attacking Goldwater's atomic weapon proposal.

Eisenhower Urges Policy Of Positive Republicanism

By Dwight D. Eisenhower

Many concerned people have urged me to indicate my preference among the possible Republican candidates or to try to dictate the Republican party's choice of a Presidential nominee this July.

I do not intend to attempt this. It is not my proper role. I do fervently hope, however, that the person selected to lead our party in the coming campaign will be a man who will uphold, earnestly, with dedication and conviction, the principales and traditions of our party.

GOP Principles

There is no mystery about Republican principles. They have been spelled out at length in our national platforms — most recently that of 1956, on which I was proud to run for re - election, and that of 1960, for which I was proud to campaign.

These platforms represented the responsible, forward-looking Republicanism I tried to espouse as President, the kind that I am convinced is supported by the overwhelming majority of the Republican party, the kind I deeply believe the party must continue to offer the American people.

Limited Government

We Republicans believe in limited government, but also in effective and humane government.

We believe in keeping government as close to the people as possible — in letting each citizen do for himself what he can do for himself, then making any call for government assistance first on the local government, then on the state government, and only in the final resort on the Federal Government.

But we do not shrink from a recognition that there are national problems that require national solutions. When they arise, we act.

Federal Programs

During the Republican Administration of 1953-61 we established the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, we extended Social Security coverage and increased its benefits, we raised the minimum wage and brought more workers under its coverage than ever before.

We increased aid for hospital construction, we increased aid for medical research, we introduced a new program of medical aid for the aged.

We inaugurated urban renewal, passed the first depressed areas legislation, launched a new program to help low - income farmers and began the most gigantic highway building program in the history of the United States.

Positive Republicanism

I cite these examples not to applaud a past record but to illustrate the positive nature of true Republicanism — spotting new needs, sizing them up, and acting decisively when their national nature and scope require it.

As a party that looks to the future, not just to the present, we Republicans believe in paying now for what we need now, not saddling those yet to come with the burden of our debts. But we believe in meeting our needs.

Civil Rights Issue

Right now the nation's most critical domestic challenge involves man's relation to his government and also to his neighbor — the issue of civil eights.

The Republican party was born of a crusading concern for human dignity; it retains that concern today.

There is reason for Republican pride that in the eight years of its last Administration the nation made more progress in civil rights than in the preceding 80.

We did this through vigorous executive action, through steadfast enforcement of court decisions and through passage of the Civil Rights Acts of 1957 and 1960 — the first such acts passed since Reconstruction.

Spirit Of Equality

Equal opportunity and mutual respece are matters not only of law but also of the human heart and spirit, and the latter are not always amenable to law.

But the nation has a profound moral obligation to each of its citizens, requiring that we not only improve our behavior but also strengthen our laws in a determined effort to see that each American enjoys the full benefits of citizenship -- benefits which no agency of government, national, state or local, has the right to abridge.

As the party of Lincoln, we Republicans have a particular obligation to be vigorous in the furtherance of civil rights. In this critical area, I have been especially proud of the dramatic leadership given by Republicans in Congress these last two years. With equal emphasis, I can say the same of our Republican Governors.

Foreign Policy

In the foreign field, the overriding concern of the Republican party — of either party — must be the maintenance of peace while protecting and extending freedom. This is not easily or simply done in a dangerous, volatile and uncertain world.

It requires military strength second to none, backed by a vigorous and expanding economy. Military adequacy must be ours in minimum. We must not, however, permit unnecessary and wasteful military expenditures to weaken the aggregate of American strength.

Loyalty to U.N.

It requires loyal support for the United Nations in its peace-keeping efforts.

It requires calm, painstaking study of all the infinitely complex situations that confront us — whether in Southeast Asia, in Cuba, or wherever danger threatens or opportunity beckons — followed by firm decision and prompt but carefully conceived action.

Nuclear Nerves

In today's nuclear - age diplomacy there is no time for indecision, but neither is there room for impulsiveness not only to treat successfully with today's crises, but to probe into those areas where, step by step, the barriers between East and West can be lowered.

The last Republican Administration acted both firmly and prudently in such danger areas as Berlin, the Formosa Straits, Iran and Lebanon. It acted constructively and imaginatively in such matters as enlarging its network of alliances and making them effective, evolving new concepts of social progress through foreign aid, promoting cultural and technical exchanges, and developing proposals for open skies and the peaceful use of space.

Our party's approach in the future must be no less firm, no less prudent, no less constructive, no less imaginative.

Nominee's Principles

Believing in the Republican party as I so devoutly do, I have for many months urged that Republicans from coast to coast be given a fair chance to work their will, in careful deliberations, at the national convention -- and therefore to make that convention truly representative of the party.

I hope they will have that chance. And I earnestly hope the party will select a nominee who skillfully and wholeheartedly would apply to our problems, both domestic and foreign, those principles which I have noted here.

Medicare Study

Paul Scott

Washington—A major breakthrough has been made in the House Ways and Means Committee on the administration's long-stalled medicare bill.

Agreement in principal has been reached by a majority of the committee's 25 members on a compromise three-part program which provides:

A five per cent across-the-board hike in Social Security benefits for the 12 million people now receiving these payments.

Liberalization of the Kerr-Mills federal-state matching program to permit payment of physician costs as well as hospital bills and include an additional 100,000 needy, elderly persons not now eligible.

Establishment of a new program of hospital insurance coverage under the Social Security retirement program for persons 65 and over.

Under this tentatively-approved medical care package, put together in a series of backstage meetings with Democratic congressional leaders and White House aides, a hospital insurance trust fund would be set up under the Social Security program.

This trust fund, designed to defray the cost of the new hospital care program, would be financed by an increase in the Social Security payroll tax from the present maximum of 3¾ per cent to 7½ per cent. The payroll tax would be increased to 10 per cent in 1972.

These increased funds would pay the hospital costs for the first 45 days of all elderly persons covered under the new medical care program. No doctor bills would be paid.

Still unsettled are the date this program would become effective and the amount of taxes an individual would have to pay into the fund before becoming eligible for hospital insurance coverage.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS — The legislators' new medical care package also includes radical changes in the Kerr-Mills program enacted in 1958 during the Eisenhower administration.

As revised, it would provide an extra $250 million in federal funds to expand both the coverage and benefits under this federal-state matching program.

The highly controversial "means test," which now requires an elderly person to be destitute before benefits can be paid, would be changed to a "cash income test." This test would allow elderly persons to receive up to $2,200 a year from all sources and still be eligible for payment of their medical costs.

The proposed 5 per cent living-cost boost for those now receiving Social Security benefits would be the first since 1958. It raises the existing $127 maximum to approximately $135 for a retired individual.

To pay for these higher benefits, the legislators plan to hike the Social Security tax base (currently fixed at the fist $4,800 of income) to $5,200. This would amount to an additional annual payment of $13 for every worker — matched by his employer.

FIGURING THE COST — Total cost of the new medical care package during the early years would be $1.5 billion annually, according to a private administration estimate being circulated among committee members.

Offsetting this, the higher payroll taxes and income base would bring in a yearly income of approximately $1.5 billion. To keep the plan fiscally sound in later years, Social Security experts believe the tax base would have to be increased to $6,200 by 1972.

Final House Ways & Means Committee approval of this medical care program is due early in June when the legislators meet to iron out the remaining details.

Once out of the committee, the package is expected to have compartively easy going in the House. Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., is privately forecasting swift passage, since Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., powerful Ways & Means Committee chairman, is one of the authors of the measure.

McCormack stresses that Mills' support should help offset the strong opposition to the legislation which is expected from the 180,000-member American Medical Association. Passage by the Senate is still very much in doubt because of the civil rights filibuster.

Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby

It Depends On The Boy

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "ONE BOY'S MOTHER" has been on my mind ever since I read it. Four years ago my boy went into the Navy. He was a good Christian boy then. My neighbor told me he wouldn't be "good" long. Abby, he is a better Christian today than he was when he went in. He neither drinks nor smokes. The Navy doesn't make our boys do anything they wouldn't do if they were home. Don't blame Uncle Sam. He had him for only a few months. His mother had him for 17 years. The Good Book says, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it." (Proverbs: 22:6)

ANOTHER BOY'S MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a mother was upset because she believed that her 17-year-old son had been introduced to drinking in the Army. Your answer was A-OK, but I'd like to put in my two cents' worth:

First of all, none of the armed services encourages drinking of any type, and anyone who is under age cannot legally buy drinks ON or OFF a Military Installation. Of course there are always some idiots who will buy drinks for kids. But that can happen in your own home town or neighborhood. As you said, Abby, "It takes two to violate the law—the buyer and the seller." And the Army sure isn't one of them.

OLE SARGE

DEAR ABBY: About the mother who thought she smelled spirits on her son's breath when he got off the bus from Fort Leonard Wood: She probably did! And somebody should tell her that a "boy" in uniform can get a drink anywhere in the world, which is as it should be. The uniform indicates that instead of a "boy" he is now a man, who, after training, may be called upon to have his 17-year-old guts dumped into a Viet Namese rice paddy. Three points will get you 15.4 that this is the same mother who makes her son wear his uniform to church when he's home on leave so she can show him off as a "man."

R. S. D. (Ex-Sgt.)

DEAR ABBY: I was a chain smoker for over 40 years. I started to get pains in my chest and I had a dry cough that came and went, but I didn't worry about it too much. I went to the doctor and he examined me thoroughly. He shook his head and said, "Either give up smoking — or else I will not be responsible for your condition." I took the cigarettes out of my shirt pocket, tossed them in his waste basket and made up my mind that I had had my last one. And I have. I am 77 years old and no amount of money could make me smoke another cigarette. The answer: WILLPOWER.

NO GIMMICKS

DEAR ABBY: If "LOOKING" and others like him do not wish to do a hitch in one of the armed services, there is an alternative — the Peace Corps.

Respectfully,
A QUAKER

The Pennsylvania Story

Park Fees Urged

By Mason Denison

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The question of whether admission charges should be imposed for Pennsylvania's State Parks has long been argued. They're free now. The State Chamber of Commerce has been one of the leading advocates of charging admission, the reasoning indicated in the following by Arnold L. Edmonds, Executive Director of the State Chamber.)

By Arnold L. Edmonds
Executive Director,
Pennsylvania Chamber
Of Commerce

HARRISBURG — On almost any sunny, summer day during the coming three months, dozens of buses will cross into Pennsylvania, carrying day-vacationers from towns and cities in Maryland, New York and New Jersey. Thousands of families in private cars will join in the caravan.

They'll be heading for Presque Isle Park at Erie, or Gifford Pinchot Park near York, or Gouldsboro Lake between Scranton and Stroudsburg — or any one of 95 State recreation sites — to use facilities developed with taxes paid by Pennsylvanians.

Coming from those stataes, tourists will be quite accustomed to paying modest fees for the use of park areas. New Yorkers, for instance, pay for park privileges at the rate of 50 cents a day per carload. New Jersey residents pay 25 cents per car, 25 cents per adult, and 10 cents per child. Our neighbors to the south, in Maryland, pay rates that vary from 50 cents to one dollar a car, daily, at many of their state parks.

Michigan's system of putting an annual cover charge of two dollars on every car — and giving out stickers that are good all year around — is, of course, a much more convenient way of handling park charges. Applied to Pennsylvania, one fee could cover everything, with the exception of 17 historical properties which already levy modest visitor charges.

To offest demands for further increases in taxes for Park purposes, Pennsylvanians should consider covering a significant part of the cost of parks with a small additional payment — from $2 to $5 — at the same time they're getting their license tags.

Visitors from out-of-state would, of course, purchase their annual sticker on the first visit to a Pennsylvania park. Busloads of day vacationers would probably have to be charged at a day-rate.

Project 70 will be an important and necessary development for Pennsylvania — both economically and as a recreational asset. Inevitably, we will have to pay for it. The time to decide how we are going to pay for this development — as well as for the continued upkeep of the existing parks — is now.

We have to decide whether we are going to cover all the new recreational costs (under Project 70, at least $3.6 million annually will go for debt service for land acquisition alone) by additional taxes — or by a realistic system whereby all park users participate in the cost.

I am not at all impressed by people who claim there will be a boycott of Pennsylvania parks by out-of-staters.

The seasoned traveler already is accustomed to paying reasonable charges. At most national parks, vehicle charges vary from $10 to $6 and there is also a 15-day charge ranging from 50 cents to $3. The 17 states that already charge park users —state like Florida, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Colorado and New Hampshire — are, like Pennsylvania, among the most attractive, both in terms of facilities as well as in the beauty of their scenery.

Pennsylvania will continue to have these advantages; it will also remain the nation's first state in terms of the lure of its historical attractions.

There are 4,100,000 family cars registered in Pennsylvania. It is fair to say that another three to four million potential park users come to, or through, Pennsylvania each year. This is a tremendous revenue source, and it is not unreasonable to ask travelers to share in the cost of the swimming, boating, camping, fishing, hiking and picnicking facilities they will use.

The cost of keeping Pennsylvania's parks in shape — and of expanding the parks system — will continue to increase.

Winning Atmosphere

There is a distinct atmosphere of winning football hanging over Stroud Union High School.

It could be the institution's copping of the Lehigh Valley Baseball League championship that created the haze of "bigger things to come" at the West Main St. school. Emphatically, though, it is there.

The best clue to the so-called pre-resurgent athletic about - face at Stroud Union was the local appearance Saturday night of Andy Silak, the newly appointed head football coach.

Silak spent more than 24 hours in Stroudsburg Saturday and Sunday listening, listening and listening.

The comparatively young grid mentor who popped New York State eyes with his winning grid ways the past three years made a big impression on everyone who got the opportunity to shake his gripping hand.

A capsule review of Silak indicates the former Penn State University football player is going to let action speak louder than words. Andy is not a talker, but you can gather he has goals and a determination to meet these marks.

Silak, along with Samuel O. Wells III, the school's athletic director, appear dedicated to turn the grid fortunes of Stroud Union around. It may not be this year but it will be soon.

Wells, not one proned to flowery accolades, let it be known that Stroud Union's varsity athletic teams were over the .500 percentage the past year. He didn't paint a picture of a great future, either. But by the tone of his voice you could gather that the sports program is definitely on the rise and that he expects it to continue to improve.

Everyone who was anyone got a chance to greet Silak. Varsity "S" Club officials, school administrators, and faculty members welcomed the man who was hosted the two days by Dr. Joseph Viglione, physician for the athletic teams.

Some remarks may have put Andy on the spot. But the well - built native of the Anthracite coal regions refused to detour yeses and nos in any qualifying manner. Neither did the joking jabs disturb Silak who has poise to spare.

Stroud Union is hungry for winnig football. Silak could be just what the doctor ordered. At least the urge is there. Now all Andy has to do is follow through with the ingredients.

Presently the school, downtown quarterbacks and community is hopeful of better things for better football. If confidence is one phase of reaching this pinnacle, both the area coach and athletic director have made one step toward a brighter gridiron picture.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Most Hoarseness Is Curable

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The hoarse, husky voice is too often a source of unnecessary concern to the one who has it and to well-wishing friends and relatives.

Could this fear be induced by the pointing finger on the billboard that ominously instills anxiety with its caption, "One out of twelve and a half people with persistent hoarseness has cancer"?

There are many simple and easily controlled causes of hoarseness. It is, therefore unfair to oneself to live in terror that hoarseness always signifies severe trouble.

This by no means suggests that hoarseness should ever be ignored or neglected. The cause of all hoarseness, whether it is of short or long duration, can be definitely established by simple examination of the larynx.

Larynx Location

The voice box, or larynx, lies in the neck below the Adam's apple. Within the voice box are two narrow, fine strands of firm tissue, which come together and vibrate to produce sound. These are the vocal cords.

The vocal cords come together when sound is produced. When a breath is taken, they separate. One cannot breathe and speak at the same time.

How Caused

Hoarseness is caused by any condition that interferes with the perfect closure of both vocal cords. Temporary hoarseness during a cold is produced by the swelling of the vocal cords.

Tiny tumors (non-cancerous) are a frequent cause of prolonged hoarseness. Their very names — "teachers' nodes, speakers' nodules, singers' nodes and preachers' polyps"— indicate that they are produced by vocal abuse. They tend to occur in people who use, overuse, and abuse the vocal cords. Sometimes surgery of the larynx becomes necessary in these cases. It is a delicate, but safe procedure, and brings gratification and "vocal health" to many patients.

Cancer of the larynx does sometimes occur. Strangely, it happens very rarely in women.

But cancer is far less often the cause of hoarseness than are the many other less serious reasons. Surgery and x-ray treatment for cancer of the larynx have an outstanding record of success.

Speak 'Softly

The most effective treatment for ordinary laryngitis and some types of vocal polyps is vocal rest and inhalation of steam. Soft modulation of speech is important.

Whispering, however, imposes great strain on the larynx. Too frequently, patients think they are preserving their larynx by whispering. Actually, the effort required for whispering is even more taxing on the larynx than is ordinary speech.

Nature's Signal Device

Hoarseness is nature's device for bringing attention to the need for resting the voice. The fear that hoarseness always means serious trouble is usually unfounded.

Find out the cause and spare yourself the unnecessary anxiety about a condition that is so often remediable.

These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere.

Your individual medical problems should be handled by your own doctor. He knows you best.

Stories Behind Words

by
William S. Penfield

Spruce

The Old French name for Prussia was "Pruce," which was derived from the German name "Preussen."

"Pruce" passed intact into English, but, over a period of a couple of centuries, acquired an "S," changing the spelling to "Spruce."

The word also was used to denote a product of Prussia. For instance, "Spruce fir" meant Prussian fir and "Spruce leather," Prussian leather.

Because Spruce leather was used to make neat, smart-looking jackets, the word "spruce" came to denote fashionable attire in general.

The word now is used to denote a neat or trim appearance.

Hearings Planned On Frat House

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg Zoning Board of Adjustment has voted to hold public hearings on an appeal application from Beta Pentagon fraternity at East Stroudsburg State College. Date for the hearings will be announced.

The appeal requests a variance in the regulation of a fraternity house in the borough. The fraternity house was formed after the adoption of zoning ordinances in the borough.

In other business at a recent meeting, the board granted Jack McMahon, owner and operator of Jack's Market on N. Courtland St., to enlarge and pave his parking facilities.

Referred St. Matthew's Roman Catholis Parish's request to construct a new high school to the Planning Commission for its consideration.

Granted the Prospect Cemetery Assn. permission to construct an office and storage building on the property.

Granted permission to Frank Renaldi to relocate a sign at the Dairy King on Milford Rd.

Granted permission to Glenn Younkins to replace his business sign on Prospect St. The first sign he had errected was torn down when the Prospect street ramp to Interstate Rt. 80 was built.

Issued the following permits: Dr. Hans Brehm, alterations; Dr. John Kulba, a new residence; Floyd Getz, alterations and an addition; Mrs. Mary Jane Lindsey, alterations to an existing building, and Stanley Roberts, alternations and and addition.

The board was told that Abeloff Auto Exchange, N. Courtland St., has removed a fence and is clearing brush and debris. This is to comply with the ordinance requiring all fences, hedges and walls to be kept in good condition.

Darr Services Held Saturday

EAST STROUDSBURG — Funeral services for Dorothy M. Darr, 44, of East Stroudsburg RD 1, were held Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Lanterman Funeral Home with the Rev. William F. Wunder officiating.

Burial was in the Prospect Cemetery, East Stroudsburg. Pallbearers were Paul Cramer, Elmer Segear, Robert Schoonover, Thomas Sexton, Robert Counterman, and Eddie Hendricks.

Mexican Profit Sharing Works

MEXICO CITY (AP)—About half the companies sharing profits with employes under a new Mexican law have paid out this year about $44 million and others will pay by the end of June, the employers report. The average equals about 1½ months salary, but one thin profit company paid less than five cents to each of 60 employes.

Kennedy Stamp Speculation

DALLAS (AP)—The Post Office moved recently to prevent stamp speculators from capitalizing on the John F. Kennedy memorial stamp with a cancellation in the city where the President was killed.

Dallas Postmaster W. B. Hudson issued a statement saying that no special philatelic services will be available here in connection with the beginning of sale of the stamps next Friday.

"We may not honor requests to cancel stamps on unaddressed envelopes," Hudson said, "nor may we honor requests to cancel self-addressed envelopes and hand them back to the persons who offer them."

He said the only way to obtain the Dallas cancellation is to mail the letter through regular channels.

Have Parking Troubles? Call Shiffer's Bituminous

Suspended ceilings can be used to lower a high, old fashioned ceiling or can become the finished ceiling in a newly remodeled basement or attic recreation room. According to the Armstrong Cork Company, the acoustical or luminous ceiling panels are supported in a metal framework and suspended from the existing ceiling structure by wires.

Blacktopping Problem Can Lose Customers

Varying weather conditions, such as we experience in our area, cause a rash of driving and parking problems for many people around their home or business property.

Dust drifts across lawns and comes to rest on the buildings causing them to need repainting long before it would normally be needed. Mud, washouts and puddles create a like problem and if yours is a business, it often costs you customers.

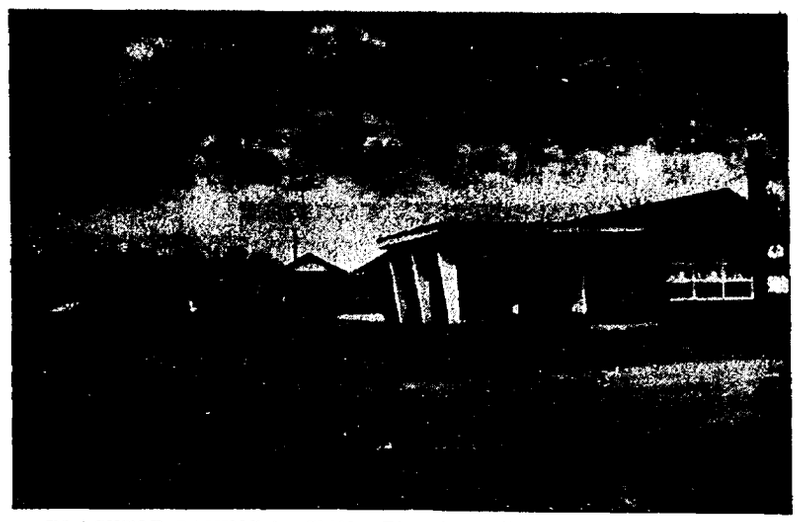
Shiffer's Bituminous Service Company of Stroudsburg are specialists in the field of blacktop paving and have put many businesses on "The road to prosperity" by applying a first class paving job.

Only the finest materials are used in formulating their blacktop and it is applied by experienced workmen. The resulting job is not only attractive but will last for years to come. Shiffer's have paved hundreds of roads, drives, walks, tennis courts, parking areas, traffic and storage areas throughout the area.

Dusting Oil Available

In some cases, a person is not ready for blacktopping but does require some method of dust control. Shiffer's offer these people a specially compounded dusting oil which holds down the dust. They are equipped to apply this material.

Whatever your paving needs may be you can depend on Shiffer's Bituminous Co. They'll be glad to give you a free estimate! Call 421-1871 or Kresgeville 681-4284.



BLACKTOP PAVING by Shiffer Bituminous Service Company improves appearance and value of any property, business or residential. A clean dust-free, mudfree parking area or drive invites people to patronize a business.

QUESTION: We are getting ready to build a home in the country beyond the city water mains. Can you give us some advice about the installation of our own water system?

ANSWER: Drilled wells generally are considered the safest because they tap the deepest water source where contamination from surface seepage is least likely to occur. Here is a five - point guide suggested by the National Water Well Assn.

1. Add up the total amount of water needed daily for all uses, both inside and outside the home. Don't forget dishwashers, washing machines, garden watering and a possible future swimming pool. These figures will be important, because they will determine the size of the pump required.

2. Get as much information as possible about the water table in the area where you plan to build.

3. Find out what regulations apply locally on such related matters as proper well construction, location and pump housing.

4. Choose a well drilling contractor with a reputation for bringing in wells that give long years of trouble - free service. The contractor should provide full-coverage liability insurance.

5. Have the well chlorinated before use and always after any repairs have been made. Check bacterial content at frequent intervals to make sure the well remains safe.

QUESTION: I have just purchased a pair of cutting pliers. A friend tells me that giving them a coat of lacquer will keep them from rusting and preserving their life. Is this true?

ANSWER: Dipping the pliers in clear lacquer, thinned about 50 per cent with lacquer thinner, acts as an excellent rust preventive. The only disadvantage is that the lacquer eventually begins to chip or wear off and must be removed with lacquer thinner and given a new coat.

QUESTION: I bought a second-hand circular saw blade and now find that the hole in the center of it is too big for the arbor on my table saw. Can this hole be filled in with some kind of metal patch to make it fit properly?

ANSWER: Go to a dealer who sells saw blades. You probably can buy from him a little metal insert to fit the hole in the blade. If he does not have it in stock, he can get it for you or tell you where to purchase it.

Walter Logan Art Shop Has All Artist Supplies

How many times have you rounded a curve in the road or stopped the car to "ooh and ah" at some of our beautiful Pocono Mountains scenery?

Hundreds of residents and people from out of our area are setting up easels and having the time of their lives, for painting is a hobby that is unlimited.

You can paint anywhere at anytime from real life or from photographs, magazine illustrations or from your own sketches made perhaps long before.

Novice or professional, you'll find a variety of supplies and materials for every type of artwork at the Walter Logan Art Shop. Oil Paints, charcoal sketching, pastels, water lors, pen and ink sketching and other technics.

Walter and Elsie Logan, owners of the shop, point out that you don't have to put a fortune in supplies to get started with this fascinating hobby and you don't have to worry about how to do it. The Logans can help you and also can suggest qualified teachers or classes where you can either learn "from the ground up" or perhaps develop your style.

ARTISTS' REWARD

Many artists who started with a hobby have found that there is a demand for their work. They often sell their paintings at the Art Shows which are held at various places in the area.

Whether you paint or if you own paintings it is good to keep this quotation in mind, "The Frame Is the Reward Of The Artist", for it shows off the painting to best advantage. You can increase the value of any painting with the proper frame.

DeRenzis Can Fill Your Aluminum Needs

Joseph G. DeRenzis and Son are proud to be distributors for Alside Aluminum Siding. Alside, Inc., is one of the oldest manufacturers of aluminum siding in the country. Not only the oldest, but far the largest. Large enough to have a position on the New York Stock Exchange "big board."

DeRenzis and Son would like to point out that this is a "made-to - order" business for "fly-by - night operators, who sell inferior siding at exorbitant prices.

It is important if you are interested in aluminum siding for your home, you consider the following points: 1. Don't sign anything for a salesman you know nothing about. Your signature more than likely will be a "completion certificate", saying that the work has been completed, when in reality it hasn't even been started.

2. Make sure you know something of the concern the salesman represents.

3. Make sure you know something about the product he sells. Just because his siding is made with aluminum from one of the four leading aluminum companies, does not mean it's the best.

4. Ask how the siding will be installed. Ask if their workmen are covered with insurance. Most generally, these fellows travel in pairs. To have two sharpies brainwashing a prospect is a lot easier for them than just one.

While you're signing your life away for one, the other can keep talking so you don't realize just what you've signed. Victims have nothing, but papers with their signatures were produced, leaving Mr. and Mrs. Victim with nothing left but to pay.

5. Don't fall for wild, ridiculous, "lifetime" guarantees. Aluminum siding has not been on the market long enough for such nonsensical statements. And watch out for these salesmen who will do your house "free" if you let him take a picture of your house "before" and "after". Some offer fantastic bonuses for anyone who just looks at your job.

In short, these "fly-by - nighters" are quick, smooth, ruthless salesmen, who have one thing in mind. . . . get in and get out with, as much of your money as you'll part with. Don't let them. Ask them to come back in a day or two (they won't). Because this gives you time to check up on him.

DeRenzis and Son will be happy to discuss your siding problems with you at any time. They are a local concern, members of the Monroe County Master Builders Association, and Chamber of Commerce.

They feel Alside Aluminum Siding is one of the best made today. Their installations are done with pride of workmanship, and most important, you'll pay a fair price, with fananacing through any local bank, to improve and beautify your home with the best you can buy, Alside.

Case Goods Chute Can Save Time

Chute for Case Goods

The farmer's most precious commodity is time. Anything he can do to save his time and labor will pay him real dividends.

For example, much time and effort can be wasted by carrying egg cases, boxes, bales, bagged grain and feed, and other items from one floor to another. By a small expenditure of money and effort, a chute can be built that will pay for itself quickly in the time it saves.

Goods of this type ride nicely on a chute bottomed with Masonite Tempered Presdwood, a tough, unusually smooth panel which has no splinters and actually outwears steel.

Illustrated is one method of constructing a chute for case goods—resting it on a stairway. Other similar methods will occur to any thoughtful farmer.

Spred Satin Gives Wall Protection

"The coverage is so great, it makes cheap paint expensive."

That phrase is in reference to paint! And the paint it refers to is Glidden's Spred Satin 100 per cent latex paint from Fetherman's Paint Store, 766 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Spred Satin's smooth and effortless application to walls, ceilings, woodwork — in any room — makes it the ideal paint to give excellent coverage at a minimum of work. It flows smoothly from brush or roller because Spred Satin is totally blended for total satisfaction through homogenizing.

Fetherman's say that one coat properly applied covers many household surfaces, such as; painted walls, enameled or varnished woodwork, unpainted or wood, wallpaper, metal and all types of wall boards.

Another great feature of Spred Satin is that you can paint a room and 20 minutes later start using it. No unpleasant odor, no thinners, no tedious stirring. Covers up to 500 square feet per gallon over most surfaces. Some problem surfaces may require special attention or an extra coat.

Here are some helpful tips about Spred Satin from Fetherman's. Brushing or rolling — will give expert results if you use clean, Spred Tools and apply the paint generously. Spraying—may be done with an external mix gun at 15 to 30 pounds pressure. Thin with water only as needed to give proper atomization.

Queenan's Offers Gifts For Grads

Have you given any thought to Graduation Gifts? If you have a gift to buy why not make it a practical gift that will give him or her enjoyment for years to come?

That's exactly what you'll find in the wide selection of electronics gifts at William Queenan's TV Sales and Service.

A handsome RCA Victor table model radio . . . a portable stereo set . . . or a handy transistor portable radio that tucks away in your pocket. A high school student receiving one of these gifts will treasure and enjoy it all through his college days and after.

Of all the gifts with a practical aspect here's the one that is of the most value. Queenan's TV has been named an authorized dealer for the famous Grundig Tape Recorders. Grundig has a name for quality in the electronics field and here is a model that will serve a student perfectly.

This Grundig Tape Recorder is portable in every respect . . . It's compact . . . carries its own power supply and gives excellent reproduction of voice, musical instruments or whatever.

Foiling 4 Deadly Heart Assassins

By Alton Blakeslee and Jeremiah Stamler, M.D.

Cigarettes, elevated blood pressure, diabetes and heredity are prime members of the heart-killing syndicate. But you can act to foil them.

For Millions of men and women, cigarette smoking has marked one major change in our habitual way of life since World War I, with cigarette consumption increasing about 500 per cent in that time.

And whether we like it or not, investigations during the last dozen years have turned up ominous statistical evidence that cigarette smokers increase their risk of premature heart disease by three to six times over non-cigarette smokers.

The risk rises with both the amount and duration of cigarette smoking, and with inhaling.

But these studies find, too, that smokers who stop before they become ill also reduce their added risk.

The investigations linking cigarettes with soaring rates of lung cancer overshadowed the far greater threat—in terms of numbers of people involved — which those same studies found concerning heart disease.

This evidence prompted the American Heart Association and College of Chest Physicians to warn publicly of heart dangers. And the Royal College of Physicians in Great Britain declared in the spring of 1962 that cigarette smoking "probably increases the risk of dying of coronary heart disease."

(The authoritative report last January of the Advisory Committee to the U. S. Surgeon General declared "it is established that male cigarette smokers have a higher death rate from coronary artery disease than non-smoking males."

("Although the causative role of cigarette smoking in deaths from coronary disease is not proven, the Committee considers it more prudent from the public health viewpoint to assume that the established association has causative meaning than to suspend judgment until no uncertainty remains.")

There is as yet little definitive understanding as to how cigarette smoking affects the heart detrimentally.

But studies to date all agree that cigar and pipe smokers are much better off, in general running little extra risk of premature death. This seems to be related at least in part to inhaling by cigarette smokers.

The tip of over-riding importance to all cigarette smokers is that men who quit are found to have less risk, approaching the status of those who have never smoked.

High Blood Pressure

In 10 short years, the counterattack to save your heart and life scored a brilliant victory.

A major weapon has been the new array of chemical bullets to shoot down high blood pressure. Between 1950 and 1960, deaths of middle-aged American men and women due to high blood pressure declined 44 per cent.

Specialists now declare that high blood pressure — hypertension—can be combatted successfully with drugs and other means in almost every instance, IF it is detected early.

As we grow older, many of us show a tendency for blood pressure to rise, but this is by no means inevitable.

The only sure way to know you are keeping your pressure under control is through regular checkups, because the early signs of elevated pressure are vague and ill-defined.

Researchers have detected specific causes — involving the kidneys and adrenal glands for example — and how to control them. Using recent discoveries from the laboratory, the physician can almost always find the drug, or combination of them, to reduce and control elevated blood pressure.

The successful counterattack also involves attention to diet, to weight, and to other conspiratorial risks, such as diabetes.

Diabetes

Each man is in his early 50's, and each has mild diabetes.

One, an electrician, knows it, and has his diabetes under firm control through diet, weight control, and regular exercise, and daily doses of insulin.

The others, a lawyer, is not aware of his disease. He doesn't quite feel up to par, and is becoming just a step slower in his reactions, a fact which — if he notices at all — he attributes to growing older.

Nor does the lawyer know that on this one count of having diabetes, he is running three to four times as much risk of premature heart attack or stroke as the non-diabetic.

At least two million American adults and children are estimated to have diabetes, and perhaps half of them do not know it.

But diabetes can almost always be controlled, especially when detected early, through urine or blood testing, before the disease can cause serious harm to blood vessels and organs. Most diabetics then have a far better expectancy of living out a normal lifespan, a life of good health and full activity.

Diabetes to some extent may be a genetic or inheritable disorder, and some research indicates the hereditary influence may be quite significant. So be especially alert if one or both parents or close relatives have been diabtic.

Heredity

Perhaps heart attacks or strokes have occurred in your family.

But this doesn't mean a naked sword hangs over your head, destined inevitably to fall upon the children and cousins and uncles and aunts.

Even if there are grounds for suspecting a hereditary tendency, you can certainly act to sheath the sword.

If a grandfather or father or uncle died from a heart attack or stroke at age 85, and had lived a full life, that's scarcely a significant sign of a family tendency toward high risk.

What happened to your relatives is meaningful—in a negative sense—only if they died prematurely from the penalties of atherosclerosis, at age 40 or 50 or 60.

Heart specialists and geneticists generally agree that there is some hereditary influence in atherosclerosis. But no specific gene is known that causes it.

Probably at least 80 per cent of the familial tendency can be accounted for by habits or tendencies to such risks as obesity, hypertension, excessive blood cholesterol, diabetes, heavy smoking, and inactivity.

As a single risk, any familial tendency toward atherosclerosis and heart attacks may mean very little.

If blood pressure and weight, cholesterol and sugar metabolism are all normal, and you don't smoke, it's very likely you can relax and forget about the family tendency — provided you keep those risk factors under control.

There's no reason for fatalism or pessimism. To a very great extent, you can be master of your fate.

'Cyclist Collides With Car

HAWLEY — A 27 year-old cyclist escaped injury over the weekend when his motorcycle collided with a car on Rt. 402 near Peck's Pond.

Donald Larsen of Kintnersville, RD 1, struck a car, bounced out of the cycle seat, hit the car's windshield and bounced back into the seat Sunday at 5:30 p.m., according to Milford State Police.

Lee A. Schondelymer, 19, of Newton, was driving the car. He had stopped at an intersection on Rt. 402 to allow a southbound vehicle to pass. The cycle was behind the southbound vehicle when it collided with the left front fender of the Schondelymer vehicle, police said.

Damage to the car is estimated at $75 and $50 to the cycle.

Brush Fire Conquered Twice

EAST STROUDSBURG—A relighted brush fire at the Prospect Cemetery in East Stroudsburg over the weekend had East Stroudsburg firemen on the scene twice within two hours.

Firemen answered the first call Saturday at 2 p. m. and remained on the scene for an hour dousing the brush fire, said a fire company spokesman.

The second call came three-quarters of an hour later in the same area. Another hour was required for firemen to douse the blaze.

Just Between Us——

by Bobby Westbrook

The Devon Horse Show claims to be the largest in the country and judging by just one day's events and the program 350 pages thick, I guess they are justified, but the funny thing is that it reminded me of the old Pocono Mountains Horse Show.

That's because it also is a hospital benefit, I guess, and they've drafted all the auxiliary members and their children to serve the soup and iced tea and stuff, and so that despite its size the Country Fair flavor still lingers.

Remember when Ora Levering by sheer will power and gently blackmail sold all the boxes to business men, set all the women to manning the refreshment booth and the kids to selling programs, and whole families spent the whole day at the Arena in the Clouds? And the Horse Show Ball was the social event of the season?

They're reviving the Horse Show as a feature of Laurel Blossom Time this year. It will be held at the West End Fairgrounds and the Lutheran Women's Guild will be in charge of the food, but I still think they need the equivalent of Ora and her bo-aproned, paper-fanning volunteers plugging it for the benefit of something. Supporting the horse show became sort of a public duty like saluting the flag or voting on election day, and the guest list in the boxes was a status thing.

Anyway, I thoroughly enjoyed the Devon Show on Saturday which was Children's Day. Proud papas standing by the entrance gate, practically lifting their offspring over the jumps by deep breathing, and sympathetic mamas wiping tears from the cheeks of disappointed losers, and the fact that it was within walking distance of Nancy's tree - shaped porch made it seem like home. Especially after we met Freddy Wellington doing the show with big sister Barbara.

Meanwhile the big social event of the weekend at home was, from all reports, Fran and Doris Shinn's dinner dance where dancing on the terrace overlooking the lake by moonlight was just about as pleasant a way of spending a warm Spring night as anybody's thought of in years.

One bit of news I got a kick from was the Water Gap Brownies who had quite a time selecting officers on account of everybody was voting for themselves in a sort of ten-way Blatt-Musmanno tie. Which at least has the virtue of approximately real politics and leaves everybody happier than the sad case of one high school student I heard about. Seems he was nominated for president of his class but modestly voted for his opponent — and lost the election by one vote!

Brownies Find Everybody Can't Win

Delaware Water Gap — After several rounds when the Brownies of Troop 323 all voted for themselves, they finally combined to elect Elsa Del Campo, president; Cathy Bishop, vice president; Valerie Kaier, secretary; and Sharon LaBar, treasurer.

The girls who will fly-up this spring worked on the Girl Scout Laws and Promise. Other Brownies made pictures. Mrs. Irwin Flynn and Mrs. Robert Richards were in charge.

Open Meeting For Junior Audubon Club

Portland — The Junior Audubon Club of the fourth grade invited members of other grades in the Portland School to listen in at their meeting in the gymnasium.

Gail Ann LaBarre presided at the meeting with reports by Heather Delp, secretary and Carl Cramer, treasurer.

Several children told of birds they had observed. A bird quiz was conducted and a game was conducted by Donna Fields. David Encke gave the children a chance to identify birds on the electric bird board and Donna Dahlman gave a book report on "John James Audubon" by Miriam E. Mason.

Gap PTA Clears Up Its Business

Delaware Water Gap — Only one mother in Delaware Water Gap will approach kindergarten as a new experience. Since the parents of other prospective kindergarteners have gone through it with older children, the Parent-Teachers Assn. cancelled plans to have Mrs. Ethel Farleigh speak on kindergarten work.

Instead they devoted their final meeting of th eseason to discussion of year-end business.

Mrs. William Fisher and Mrs. Irwin Flynn were named to check on the placing of outdoor athletic equipment which the PTA purchased last Fall. Mrs. A. Peechatka and Mrs. Lillian Marshall, teachers, were authorized to purchase natural science film strips for the school at $52. Mrs. Robert Kaiser reported $114.10 in the treasury.

Mrs. Stephen Matos was reelected as president. Others installed were Mrs. A. DelCampo, vice president; Mrs. Robert Kaiser, treasurer. Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser, secretary, was not present.

Named to committees were: Mrs. Rodney Baechtold and Mrs. George Driebe, program; Mrs. Norman Pirie and Mrs. Roy Carroscia, ways and means; Mrs. Irwin Flynn, banking; Mrs. William Fisher, hostess; Mrs. Robert Kaiser, membership.

Invitations will be sent to all families in the village to attend PTA meetings next fall. An evaluation session was held and speakers for the coming year were suggested.

Mrs. Matos served refreshments including cup cakes baked by her daughter, Dagmos Matos.

GOP Women At Effort Thursday

Effort — The Western Poconos Council of Republican Women will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Effort Diner.

Mrs. Mary Fontanella will report on the membership conference held in Waverly on May 20. Members and prospective members are invited.

Miss Carole B. Melvin Is Bride Of George F. Fuller

Shawnee-on-Delaware—Miss Carole Barbara Melvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Melvin, of 40 Walnuut St., East Stroudsburg, was married on Saturday, May 16, at 1 p. m. in the Shawnee Presbyterian Church, to George Earl Fuller.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross S. Fuller, of Shawnee-on-Delaware. Rev. Wesley Crowther performed the ceremony with Vernon Imbt as organist and Robert Wolbert as soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza with a scoop neckline, long sleeves and fitted bodice with controlled fullness in the skirt. Symmetrical appliques of Alencon lace and seed pearls decorated the dress which ended in a full chapel train. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion fell from a double crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Regina Treible, of East Stroudsburg, as maid of honor, wore a dress of pale yellow lace over taffeta with a matching rose hat and carried a cascade of frosted pink carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Linda Melvin, sister of the bride; and Miss Judy Smith, a cousin, wore gowns of similar style in pale green and carried cascades of yellow carnations.

Michael Heller, of Delaware Water Gap, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Arthur Kroll and John Fetherman, both of Shawnee.

A reception for about 100 guests was held at the CLU Club in East Stroudsburg.

The bride's mother wore a dress of beige chiffon over yellow taffeta with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a green eyelet dress with white accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

Both the bride and her husband were graduated from East Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1961, and both attoended Churchman's Business College. The bride is employed in the proofroom at Hughes Printing Co. Mr. Fuller is an assistant accounts payable supervisor with Business Supplies Corp. of America.

They plan a wedding trip beginning June 20 to Daytona Beach.

Red Cross Sets Water Pageant

Stroudsburg — A water pageant, marking the 50th anniversary of the Red Cross Water Safety Services, will follow the annual dinner meeting of the Monroe County Chapter, American Red Cross, on Thursday, June 4, at 6:3; in the dining room of East Stroudsburg State College.

The pageant will follow in the college gymnasium pool. The banquet is open to all those interested in Red Cross work.

Wesley WSCS Thurs.

Bartonsville — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Wesley Chapel will meet Thursday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. Louis Landmesser.

Glimpses Of Spain For Women's Assn.

East Stroudsburg — The Women's Assn. of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church will meet Wednesday night at 7:30.

The program will be "Glimpses of Spain" by Mr. and Mrs. Horace Walter who will also show slides of their trip.

Poster Prizes Awarded

Portland — The Portland Woman's Club entertained as their guests at the final meeting of the season members of the Garden Club, the school children who had won prizes in the Clean-up Poster campaign, and teachers of the local school.

Mrs. Fred Ott, chairman of the poster campaign presented the prizes to two winners in each of the six grades in the school: Debby Batchlor, Jeanette Jewell; Debra Peters, Phyllis Polinsky; Debra Miller, Linda Yetter; Gail Laharre, Heather Delp; Kathy Calkins and Donna Rutt.

The posters were judged on ingenuity, originality, neatness and color by Alexis Gibel, Carolyn Schroeder and Peter Heiden, well-known artist. Money for the prizes was contributed by the Woman's Club and the Portland National Bank.

Teachers introduced were Miss Alice Delp, Mrs. Margaret Ettinger, Mrs. Ruth Zeigafuse, Mrs. Ethel Seely, Mrs. Miriam Scott, Miss Ruth Williams and the art teacher, Mrs. B. Levan.

Mrs. Raymond Beck welcomed the guests and Mrs. Harry Michels led the opening ceremonies. Kenneth Mitman of Bixler Jewelers, Easton, spoke on diamonds and showed slides. He was introduced by Mrs. Carl Beck.

Announcement was made of the Spring banquet to be held at the Pen and Sword Restaurant, East Stroudsburg RD on June 1 with reservations to be returned by May 27.

Mrs. Beck named Mrs. Everett Hughes, Mrs. Morris Hauser and Miss Ella Jelinek to the auditing committee.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Alice Delp, chairman; Mrs. Clifford Sebring, Mrs. E. A. Rushin, Mrs. Everett Hughes, Mrs. Horace Rusling and Mrs. Max Effross.

Historical Pilgrimage Set For Bucks County Sites

Stroudsburg—The annual summer historical pilgrimage will be held Saturday, June 27, and will include visits to historic sites in Bucks County, it has been announced by Horace Walters, program chairman of the Monroe County Historical Society which sponsors the bus trip.

Walters announced that the all-day trip will include stops at a lock on the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal, at Durham Creek, Gallows Hill, the Harrow House, Pipersville, Gardenville, Mechanicsville, Buckingham, Wrightstown, New Town and Washington's Crossing.

Plans have been made for a guided tour at Washington's Crossing State Park.

Reservations must be made with Walters prior to June 20.

Staff Guests Of County Lodge President

Saylorsburg — Mrs. Eva Snyder, district deputy president of the Rebekah Lodges of Monroe County, entertained the members of her installing staff at a dinner at the Saylorsburg firehall recently.

The table was decorated with flower vases and place card holders made by Mrs. Snyder for her guests. The staff presented a gift to Mrs. Snyder with Mrs. Ethel Rinker making the presentation. Present were Mrs. Lavina Hoffner, Mrs. Mildred Schall, Mrs. Eunice Fenner, Mrs. Violet Meixsell, Mrs. Anna Serfas, Mrs. Grace Mackes, Mrs. Ethel Rinker, and a guest Robert Rinker.

Following the dinner, a business meeting of the Sciota Rebekah Lodge was held with Mrs. Kathryn Knox, Noble Grand, presiding. No further meetings will be held until September. After the meeting, Mrs. Snyder served refreshments.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

You may now refer to me as "the silent one" ,for I have proved myself. I kept quiet Saturday all the way from Marshalls Creek to Stroudsburg without saying one word to anyone . . . on a bet with Bill Wells. Kate Mullins and he fired all manner of questions at me, and still I failed to respond. To tell you the truth, I think Bill worried a bit after awhile. And, to tell you the truth for the second time, I was very happy to see the silhouette of Stroudsburg on the horizon. I'm not sure what I'd have done if we'd begun our wager at Milford . . . or Port Jervis.

Our excursion was in the interests of the national convention of Podiatrists and their wives at Tamiment. They had requested a fashion show, and while we are so busy right now we hesitate to leave the store for any reason whatever, we are delighted that we accepted the invitation. There were approximately 350 women gathered in the Constellation Room, and they were wonderful: as friendly and pleasant a group as we have ever seen anywhere. Midway through the show they began asking questions: "Did you mention the manufacturer of that dress?" . . . "Is that shift available in other colors?" . . . "Would you kindly repeat the price?",—and in no time at all we began feeling we knew all of them. Something wonderful happens to anyone standing before an audience when he or she suddenly realizes that the audience is solidly in favor of whatever it is that is happening. This occurred Saturday . . . and I loved it when one spectator from Lebanon called out, "I was in your store yesterday and that cranberry shift also comes in gray . . . I saw it."

Priscilla Fry from our second floor fashion departments accompanied us to Tamiment to assist the models: Pat Falcinelli (Miss Pocono), Linda Bosman, Kate Mullins, Sue Sebring, and Helen Greiner. Helen is a very smart half size, who fills the bill beautifully when organizations say, "Please use some gray-haired matrons —not just pretty teen-agers." She can wear any color, and almost any style, whether it be Rosecrest separates, a jacket dress in black and brown cotton eyelet ,or a yellow shirtwaist style.

Pat and Linda were adorable, as only the young can be. Linda wore two kneecapper and blouse sets; a lovely white arnel basic with colorful pink print scarf and matching jewelry; a blouson shift that was one piece with the look of two, combining mocha and white, a full-skirted white cotton dress with a deep band of pink eyelet and pink grosgrain belt, and a perfectly stunning sheath of linen-look rayon in brilliant rose, with scattered white lace flowers centered by faceted white beads.

Pat modeled Catalina's Lazy Daisy shift over the Crazy Daisy swim suit . . . a precious rose and white gingham Petti swim suit with matching top . . . a Jantzen knit jacket half powder blue, half white, with reversed attached hood, lined in blue and white gingham to match the big patch pocket and the gingham shorts. She was particularly appealing, however, in a white cotton lace dress over pink, with matching head scarf . . . such a young ensemble it did things to your heartstrings.

But the real show stoppers were Kate and Sue who closed the program wearing two items from Lingerie. Kate had selected Evelyn Pearson's pure silk "at home" sheath, which falls straight to the floor and is slashed high at both sides. It is 11.00. Sue wore the Maharanee Gown which must be stepped into via the shirred, elasticized neck. The legs go through slits at either side, and the resulting drapery moves dramatically with every step the wearer takes. The applause, cheers, and chatter this evoked caused all the men to come running with their eyes bugging out to HERE. We sold it immediately to the wife of a foot doctor. He will undoubtedly arrange an appointment with an oculist and a cardiac specialist any minute.

Eastburg Girl Gets $4,000 Grant

EAST STROUDSBURG — Miss Autumn Coffman of East Stroudsburg, received her four year $4,000 scholarship from the International Assn. of Machinists (IAM) during a lodge 1724 meeting Saturday at the American Legion Home in East Stroudsburg.

Grand lodge representative Robert J. Carter made the scholarship presentation in behalf of the IAM Scholarship committee. Carter said "When a student achieves such a fine record, we know that her teachers were interested and dedicated to their job."

Robert Carter also cited Autumn's mother, a lodge member of 1724, for her part in the girl's success.

Miss Coffman said she would use her scholarship award to attend Temple University in the fall. She enrolled at Temple as a Pre-Med. Student.

Miss Coffman was selected by the IAM Scholarship committee which consisted of five persons. They are Dr. J. Harold Goldthorpe, of the U. S. Office of Education; Paul Cornely, M.D., of Harvard University, John Wakefield of the American University; Catherine Rich of the Catholic University, and Dr. E. O. Hughes of the Natural Research Council of Canada.

Robert Carter also urged the membership to support legislation for aid to education so that every deserving youngster might have the opportunity to attend college.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House predicted recently that this year's budget deficit will be $1.2 billion below previous estimates.

State Parks To Open Memorial Day

TOBYHANNA — Memorial Day will mark the official opening of Tobyhanna and Gouldsboro state parks, it was annouced yesterday by Elwyn Radcliffe, park superintendent.

Facilities for camping, boating, swimming and picnics will be available at both parks. Fishing also will be open at Gouldsboro.

Tobyhanna State Park will not be open for fishing until the first day of the bass season, June 20.

Launching permits for all watercraft must be obtained at the state park offices, Radcliffe said. He also noted that no permits will be issued for any inflatable craft.

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Friday, he discussed the civil rights issue with former President Eisenhower.

Locked Brakes Cause Mishap

PEN ARGYL — A Pen Argyl youth escaped injury over the weekend when his car hit a telephone pole and rolled over on Rt. 115 about one mile north of Wind Gap.

State police at Stroudsburg said the driver, Gary Meixsell, 18, stated that his brakes locked, causing him to lose control of the car. It hit a telephone pole in front of the Ross Common Manor Inn, and then rolled over once.

State police said the youth was traveling at a high rate of speed.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Tuesday, May 26, 1964

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — There's a marked difference between the one who tries with all his know-how AND integrity and he who makes thrusts forward regardless of ensuing results. Evaluate responsibility in all.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — How your efforts will affect those about you is your consideration, too. Commitments should equate your ability to produce. Don't wait for "the breaks" to come. Make your own.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Above-average opportunities indicated, but you may have to seek out some for yourself. Assistance can be gained for the asking. Written matters favored

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Avoid delays in matters which, while not pressing, should nevertheless be handled before they clutter your program. General progress indicated.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Whatever you can do to further your interests, attack with vigor. This is a time for ACTION — and enthusiasm.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Contemplate sufficiently before taking off in any direction. Action needed in some spots, curtailing in others. Emphasize your ingenuity.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — An "iffy" sort of day, much depending on your initiative and approach. You have plenty of planetary backing to carry out sensible moves and plans, however.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — You may have a hankering to do something in a way which is not supported by logic. Better think about consequences — to yourself and to others. Be alert, perceiving.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Double-check on plans. Listen keenly during discussions; recognize faults in your own or anyones reasoning, but be tactful criticizing the other fellw.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — You may not be able to produce the effect you wish right away: PATIENCE. You have more at work for you than you realize. Use skills smartly, carefully.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Care stressed in mechanics, travel, electrical appliances, handling moneys, other properties. Pretense must not deceive, nor strange facts frighten.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Situations more difficult in some respects than you like? An earnest, honest try is still the best recipe for success. Business, work issues, domestically need extra care.

YOU BORN TODAY have an eager, bright mind; are usually active physically, too. You tend to run down energies by overdoing, reaching for too much at a time. Those born under this Sign are highly versatile; could succeed in literary or musical pursuits; in organizational matters and in the field of inventions. You like a change of scenery and, to the Geminian even pleasure travel can lead to professional achievement. Others will accept your original thinking and independent nature IF you back them with sufficient know-how and restraint. Keep an eye on the pocketbook.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Ike's 'Secret Slice' Set For Unveiling

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP)—One of the most closely guarded secrets of the post-war years—how bad is Ike's slice?—will be let out of the bag here Tuesday for the sake of charity.

Former President Dwight Eisenhower, the most avid and perhaps the best of America's golfing presidents, will team with Arnold Palmer, the Masters champion, in an 18-hole benefit for the Heart Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania.

Their opponents in a best-ball match over the historic Merion Golf Club course will be Jimmy Demaret, the dapper, 53-year-old grandpa who has won three Masters, and Ray Bolger, the twinkle-toed star of Hollywood and Broadway.

Weekend Hacker

Bolger, star of "On Your Toes" and "Where's Charley?", is nimble on his feet but as a golfer falls into the category of a weekend hacker, who leaps with joy when he breaks 100. Palmer and Demaret are established pros.

The match will start at 1 p.m., EST, before a front row gallery paying $100 each for patron tickets, which includes a pre-match clinic and a luncheon, and $50 for a spot in the crowd.

When he needed relaxation from his presidential duties, Eisenhower found it by going to the Augusta National Golf Club in Augusta, Ga., scene of the Masters, or to Newport for a few rounds of golf. He built a pitching and putting green on the White House lawn.

Ike's score because classified information, like the atomic bomb and plans to penetrate outer space.

Card Trackmen Rout Salisbury

SWIFTWATER — Pocono Mountain's thinclads evened their track record at 3-3 by scoring an 86-19 triumph over visiting Salisbury.

Dave Blakeslee and Ron Kochera were double winners for the Cardinals. Blakeslee finished first in the 220-yard dash and the broad jump, while Kochera won both the 880-yard dash and the mile run.

The results:

100 — Mikels (PM), Blakeslee (PM), Dougherty (S). Time: 10.7.

220 — Blakeslee (PM), Mikels (PM), Leies (PM). Time: 24.4.

Discus — Kahl (PM), Derrick (PM), Henning (PM). Distance: 115¾.

Javelin — Holman (S), Arndt (S), Snyder (PM). Distance: 135-6½.

Methodists Win E-burg LL Game

EAST STROUDSBURG — Scoring in every inning, Methodists blasted Eastern Pocono yesterday, 18-4, in an East Stroudsburg Little League contest.

Julius Viechnicki hurled the distance for the winners, striking out 16 batters while issuing but three walks.

The Methodist club scored eight runs in the second inning to put the game on ice early while belting a total of 15 hits in the six-inning fray.

Orange Crate Derby Slated For Saturday

MT. POCONO — The Mt. Pocono YMCA "Orange Crate Derby" will be held Saturday at the west end of Center St. starting at 1:30 p.m.

About 40 boys, ranging in age from 8-12, will take turns driving the racers they have built. A trophy to the winner will be presented by Francis O'Boyle, president of the YMCA.

Other "Y" activities in conjunction with the derby include model judging and presentation of awards to the "Outstanding Y' Boy" and the "Outstanding 'Y' Girl."

Bangor Opens L.L. Season

BANGOR—The 13th Little League season in Bangor was opened in Bangor Saturday as the Lions trimmed the First Ward representatives, 16-3.

John Paccioli, president of the Bangor Borough Council, threw out the first ball. The Rev. Marvin Masteller, pastor of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church, offered the invocation. Armon M. Williams served as master of ceremonies.

Lions Win

POCONO PINES — Pocono Lions yesterday defeated Reeders, 13-6, in a Pocono Mountain Little League baseball game.

Gerry Davis homered for the winners in the first inning. Paul Major picked up the win.

Pocono Mountain Tops PCM, 10-0

SWIFTWATER — Pocono Mountain rolled to its sixth win of the season in nine outings yesterday, blanking Pocono Catholic on Gary Hartshorn's five-hitter, 10-0.

Ron Litwin put the Cardinals on the scoreboard in the second inning with a lead off homer and Pocono Mountain tallied three runs each in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings to seal the verdict.

Tigers Halt Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bill Freehan drove in two runs with a homer and double Monday night as the Detroit Tigers stopped the red-hot Baltimore Orioles 5-3 behind the fine relief pitching of Ed Rakow.

Freehan, the American League's No. 3 hitter, doubled home a run in the first inning and scored on a single by Don Demeter. He hit his fourth homer leading off the fourth.

The Tigers added another run in the fourth, chasing Oriole starter Steve Barber on a walk and singles by Norm Cash and George Thomas. Barber, a 20-game winner last year, failed for the fifth time to record his first victory.

Rakow, who relieved Hank Aguirre when Baltimore narrowed the gap to 4-3 in the fourth allowed two hits and struck out four. It was only the fifth loss in the last 19 games for Baltimore.

Luis Aparicio's base running accounted for two Oriole runs. He singled, stole his 22nd base and scored on a sacrifice fly in the third. In the third, Agurrei balked home a run while trying to keep Aparicio from stealing.

Less Dough For Joe Means Pitching Woe

NEW YORK (AP) — Milwaukee slugger Joe Torre, an unsuccessful holdout, has been taking out his wrath on opposing National League pitchers this season.

The young catcher-first baseman was a late arrival in spring training, finally capitulating to the Braves' offer which was about $5,000 less than he had been seeking.

So far, Torre has been more successful as a hitter than a salary negotiator. In last week's games, he batted .560 with 14 hits in 25 tries and climbed into third place in the NL race with a .370 average.

Nine Homers

Torre had seven hits, including two home runs, and five RBI in Sunday's doubleheader against St. Louis. He now has nine homers and 30 runs batted in.

The Braves' star trails only Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs and Willie Mays of San Francisco in the batting competition. Williams took over first place, gaining 18 ponts to .398 with 13 hits in 28 tmes at bat last week. Mays dropped 18 ponts to .393 with only seven safeties in 23 attempts.

Mays Still Ahead

Mays, however, continued to lead in home runs with 17 and runs batted in with 40. He had three homers and five RBI in last week's action.

Tony Oliva, Minnesota's rookie outfielder, held onto the American League batting lead despite a 16-point loss to .382. He had five hits in 19 at bats.

Eddie Bressoud of Boston advaced to second place at .345 although he slumped 16 ponts t .345 while Bill Freehan, Detroit, also moved up a notch to third at .343. Freehan fell 24 points with a 7-for-24 performance.

Hinton Moves Up

Chuck Hinton of Washington moved up to fourth on a nine point gain to .342. Jim Fregosi, Los Angeles shortstop, slumped from second to fifth with a 1-for-15 showing that dropped his average 43 points to .340. The figures include Sunday's games.

Jurgenson Signs With Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sonny Jurgenson, who went on strike for more money last year, signed Monday with Washington and said being traded away from Philadelphia "probably was the best thing that could have happened to me."

Both Jurgenson and the No. 2 quarterback, King Hill, walked out of the Eagle training camp last fall shortly before the start of the season. Neither had signed a contract. The Eagles, left without a quarterback, soon capitulated.

Jurgenson came to Washington early this year in a four-player deal that sent the Redskins' young quarterback, Norman Snead, to Philadelphia.

The Eagles, under new ownership, are undergoing an extensive overhauling under new head Coach Joe Kuharich, who has traded away both Jurgenson and his roommate, flanker back Tommy McDonald.

Philadelphia finished last in the National Football League's Eastern Division the past two seasons.

The Redskins didn't announce Jurgenson's salary, but presumably he received at least a slight raise over his estimated $30,000 of last year.

A Bright, Young Star

Allen: New Lease On Life

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures

Richie Allen, Philadelphia's rookie third baseman, is looking toward a new lease on life. He is breaking into the National League at a strange position and he's even changed his name.

The bespectacled 22-year-old star Negro athlete from Wampum, Pa., which is nearer to Youngstown, Ohio, than it is to Philadelphia, is one of the bright young stars whose bat may offset the slugging lot when the Phils traded Don Demeter to Detroit.

Allen, who prefers to be called Dick, crashed 33 home runs and drove in 97 runs for Little Rock's Arkansas Travelers last season. Both marks were good enough to lead the International League.

"He's a fine boy and we've been trying him on third base," Manager Gene Mauch was saying one morning at Clearwater, Fla., where the Phillies trained. "He's got good power and don't let anybody tell you he's got a weak arm. But thether he plays third base depends on what Don Hoak has to say."

Hoak is a brassy sort who charges bunts but because he hit only .231 last year, Mauch is making the switch.

Had Hoak said anything to Allen during training?

Watch And Listen

"We haven't spoken to one another," said Allen as though he felt it was a rookie's place to watch and listen rather than go around glad-handing new teammates.

Who was his manager at Little Rock and did he help Philadelphia's latest phenom?

"Frank Lucchesi was the manager," Allen replies. "I played left field there. Originally I was a shortstop and a second baseman.

"Me and the manager didn't get along too well. He's a funny guy.

"I wanted to play third base but he wouldn't put me there. He was the same manager I had in 1962 at Williamsport where I hit .329 with 20 homers and 109 runs batted in.

"A Lot Of Pressure"

"It was a lot of pressure for me to play as the first Negro player in Little Rock."

Allen was not asked to elaborate for he had never been known to beef, and anyway Mauch said he was a "fine boy."

Last spring Allen came to camp as an outfielder and that's where he played in the exhibitions. Mauch apparently figures that if the Dodgers can try outfielder Tommy Davis at third why not give Allen a chance at the hot corner.

Allen figured he'd come to camp this spring as an outfielder.

"I didn't know nothing about it — playing third base. I read it in the papers," Allen was saying one morning. "Then when I came to camp Gene Mauch told me to get a glove and play third base.

Still Learning

"I was glad to get the chance. Maybe if I'd have known about it sooner I might have thought too much about it. But I'm learning as I go along and anyway originally I was a shortstop and second baseman."

Allen is a likeable youngster and acts the part of a gentleman when interviewed. Some writers have pressed him with more questions than necessary about integration in Little Rock. He knows he is not the only one of his race to be called names in that city and he would like to forget the unpleasantness of 1963.

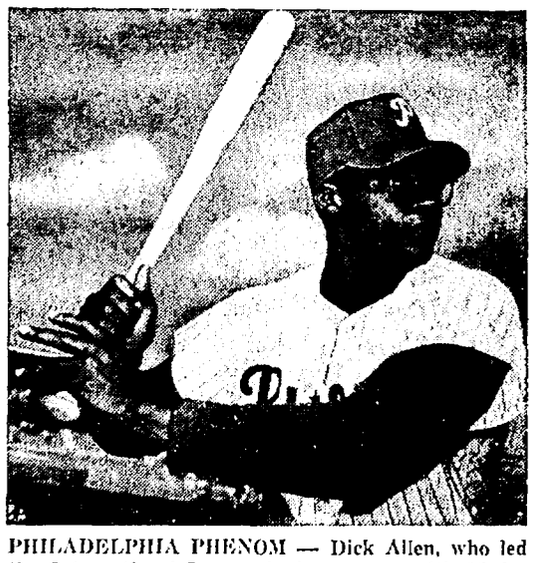
But one thing does dripe the Wampum High School graduate of 1960. It's his nickname of Richie.

"To be truthful with you," Allen said, "I'd like to be called Dick. I don't know how the Richie started. My name is Richard and they called me Dick in the minor leagues."

Phillies Goofed

Somewhere along the line the Phillies goofed. Their roster lists him as Richie Allen and it's that way in the National League records. But in the baseball commissioner's office it's Richard Anthony Allen.

The Phillies ought to get this straight because Allen will be around for quite a spell. He struck out 110 times last year but he also hit 33 home runs.



PHILADELPHIA PHENOM — Dick Allen, who led the International League in home runs with 33 for Little Rock last year, figures to make the grade at third base for the Phillies.

Cy Barrett Says

Pride, The Villain

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY:

Without being known as an "odd jobs man," I'd like to get some work. The fact is I am newly retired and sick of doing nothing. My health isn't good but it isn't too bad, either. All I want is to be in a work atmosphere, and not get out of touch with men who are earning a living. Ever heard of a spare - spare time job that wouldn't be too degrading for an ex-office worker?

MR. PAINE

DEAR MR. PAINE:

Joe Schmitz is two years your senior, and works from 7 to 9 five mornings a week, cleaning an auto body shop. Joe says, "I was a leading insurance producer and suffered two heart attacks between 65 and 66. After I sold insurance to body shop owner, he became my friend. After my recovery, we got talking about how bored I was.

One thing led to another and he put me on the payroll. Some days, after two hours' work, I hang around the shop another hour or so. This has been going on for four years and keeps me alive." Job stratum pride is one of the most formidable barricades separating men and women from successful retirement, Mr. Paine. But . . not for Joe Schmitz.

CY

DEAR CY:

To my amazement, we are going to sell this place! Until my wife read a real estate firm's ad for a ranch style home (and saw it), I expected to live out my days here. Now, she is in a gosh awful hurry to sell our house and buy the new one.

We are going to sell and buy through a real estate broker, but I want advice about advertising the property. Instead of running ads in the paper, what about radio commercials at different times of the day? That way, we wouldn't be advertising to the same people with every message.

AMAZED HUSBAND

DEAR AMAZED:

Ninety - five per cent of all real estate is sold through newspaper want ads. The reason? Results. These sales pitches are read by a parade of prospects and your wife fell in the ranks as one of the marchers.

Through repeating want ads, realtors find they reach a steady stream of people tramping through the public marketplace. Get the parade concept and leap on the bandwagon. Or face discord in the old homestead, discord that is noisier than a circus band.

CY

DEAR CY:

Many of your readers are suffering personal business problems because they dropped out of high school. Due to their obvious plight, we ought to adopt at least one good idea the Russians have. They think education is serious business and go all out to sell it. Think what this attitude would mean to our productive capacity and personal earnings!

J. HOOKER

DEAR MR. HOOKER:

Dr. F. Joseph Mullin, president of Shimer college, a small but vibrant American educational institution, holds this view; "Educators themselves are partly to blame for the high school drop-out problem.

Routine teaching and lack of significance in today's teaching are major causes for the disinterest in education on the part of too many high school students and this disinterest results in drop-outs. Too many teachers simply are not taking the time to examine what is being taught. Education today . . .must be made significant of our world today." Dr. Mullin has a point. Personally, I prefer his stype of selling over Russian sales arguments. . . the truncheon and Lubyanka prison.

But Cy to work on your Personal Business Problems! Write Cy Barrett, c-o this newspaper, but please include stamped, self - addressed return envelope.

Bangor Seniors Stage Banquet

Nearly three hundred class members and their guests attended the annual banquet of the Class of 1964 of the Bangor Area Joint Senior High school held at Split Rock Lodge. The event was followed by a post banquet party in the Blue Valley Farm Show Building.

Sherwood Heard, class president was master of ceremonies and the invocation was given by W. J. Heard, vice president. Remarks were offered by Dr. S. William Ricker, Superintendent of schools; Dr. Trever Williams, senior high principal and by Armon M. Williams, class adviser.

Following the dinner, a party was staged in the Blue Valley Farm Show with music for dancing being provided by Ken Brader, Jr., and His Orchestra. Supper was served by a committee of the Joint School committee headed by Mrs. Charlotte Hough.

NOTICE is hereby given that there was enacted by the Borough Council of the Borough of East Stroudsburg, Monroe County, Pa., on May 18, 1964, an Ordinance entitled:

Ordinance No. 577

AUTHORIZING THE MAKING OF CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS TO THE WATER SYSTEM OF THE BOROUGH AND THE FINANCING OF A MAJOR PORTION OF THE COST THEREOF BY THE ISSUANCE OF $435,000 BOROUGH OF EAST STROUDSBURG WATER REVENUE BONDS, SERIES OF 1964; SETTING FORTH THE FORM OF BOND AND COUPON; PLEDGING THE REVENUES OF THE WATER SYSTEM FOR THE PAYMENT OF SUCH BONDS; PROVIDING FOR THE DISPOSITION OF THE PROCEEDS OF SUCH BONDS AND OF OTHER AVAILABLE FUNDS AND OF THE REVENUES OF THE WATER SYSTEM; PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF ADDITIONAL WATER REVENUE BONDS; SETTING FORTH COVENANTS OF THE BOROUGH IN THE FIXING OF RATES AND THE OPERATION OF THE WATER SYSTEM AND FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE HOLDERS OF SUCH BONDS.

The following is a summary of said Ordinance:

The Preambles recite the ownership and operation of the Water System by the Borough of East Stroudsburg (the "Borough") that the Borough Council desires to make certain capital improvements thereto; that the Borough has determined to issue $435,000 non-debt Water Revenue Bonds—Series of 1964 to finance a major portion of such improvements; and that in connection with such improvements Borough has accepted a Federal grant (estimated at $313,500) under the Public Works Acceleration Act of 1962 as amended.

Section 1 sets forth certain definitions. Section 2 directs the improvements to be made and estimates their period of usefulness to be in excess of 30 years. Section 3 provides for the issuance of the Bonds. Section 4 sets forth the maturities and interest rates on the Bonds. Section 5 directs how the Bonds are to be executed, where they are to be payable and the tax deductions. Section 6 sets forth the form of the Bond and coupon. Section 7 describes the redemption provisions. Section 8 directs the proceeds of the bonds (exclusive of accrued interest) and moneys made available by the Borough and moneys received under the Federal grant to be deposited in a Construction Fund and provides for the withdrawal therefrom. Section 9 provides for maintenance of water rates. Section 10 sets up certain Funds into which the revenues from the Water System are to be deposited and the withdrawals therefrom. Section 11 provides issuance of additional water revenue bonds for capital improvements and refunding purposes. Section 12 limits the security of the Bonds to the revenues from the Water System. Section 13 provides for the rights of bondholders in case of default. Section 14 provides for an annual budget. Section 15 requires an accounting of the Water System and an annual audit. Section 16 obligates the Borough to maintain, operate and keep in repair the Water System. Section 17 provides for the insurance of the Water System. Section 18 requires the employment of a Consulting Engineer. Section 19 states that the Ordinance is a contract with the bondholders. Section 20 specifies the manner of amending the Ordinance. Section 21 directs the Treasurer of the Borough, at the time of settlement for the Bonds, to deposit in the Construction Fund referred to in Section 8 hereof, from Borough funds, the sum of $15,000. Section 22 directs the officers of the Borough to carry out the provisions of the Ordinance. Section 23 provides for the severability of the Ordinance. Section 24 repeals all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Separate sealed proposals will be received by the EAST STROUDSBURG AREA JOINT SCHOOLS for the proposed Alterations and Additions to the present building known as the Courtland Street Elementary Building adjoining the new High School Building in East Stroudsburg, Monroe County, Pennsylvania; until 4:00 o'clock P.M. (E.D.S.T.) on THUR, JUNE 11, 1964 at the Office of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School Building, located in East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania. Proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Cafeteria of the aforesaid High School Building at 8:00 o'clock P.M. (E.D.S.T.) on the same date. Proposals will not be received in the Office of the Architect.

Separate proposals will be received for any or all of the following work:

Contract No. 1—General Construction; Proposal Security, $6,000.00; Plan Deposit, $10.00.

Contract No. 2—Heating & Ventilating Work, Proposal Security, $3,000.00; Plan Deposit, $20.00.

Contract No. 3—Plumbing Work, Proposal Security, $3,000.00; Plan Deposit, $20.00.

Contract No. 4—Electric Work, Proposal Security, $3,000.00; Plan Deposit, $20.00.

Drawings, Specifications, Instructions To Bidders, Proposal Forms and other Contract Documents may be examined at the Office of the Architect, EVERETT ASSOCIATES, Registered Architects and Engineers, Commonwealth Building, Allentown, Pennsylvania; and

1. F. W. Dodge Corporation, Corner Broad & Locust Sts., Philadelphia 2, Penna.
2. Scranton Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Mulberry Street, Scranton, Pennsylvania.
3. Harrisburg Builders Exchange, Inc., 2501 N. Front St., Harrisburg, Penna.

Copies of drawings and specifications may be obtained at the office of the Architect upon payment of required amount of "Plan Deposit" heretofore given. Each Bidder shall be entitled to two (2) copies of drawings and specifications upon payment of the "Plan Deposit." Any bidder upon returning such sets in good condition within fifteen (15) days after the opening of proposals, will be refunded his payment. Any non-bidder upon so returning such sets will be refunded fifty percent (50%) of his payment. Contractors failing to return sets in good condition will forfeit the full amount of the "Plan Deposit."

Each proposal must be accompanied by a proposal guaranty, in the amount as heretofore given, in the form of a Certified Check, Bank Cashiers Check, Trust Company Treasurer's Check or a Bid Bond, in the form prescribed in the Contract Documents, with satisfactory corporate surety authorized to do business in Pennsylvania, naming as payee or obligee, as applicable, the EAST STROUDSBURG AREA JOINT SCHOOLS.

Each successful bidder must enter into the Agreement, in the form prescribed in the contract documents, and must furnish a Contract Bond, in the form prescribed in the Contract Documents, and evidence of required insurance within ten (10) days after delivery of notice of acceptance of the proposal of such bidder to the address stated in such proposal, all as more specifically is set forth in the contract documents.

Proposals must be submitted on regular forms prepared by the Architect, in an envelope furnished by the Architect and addressed to the Owner at or before the time above mentioned. All proposals must be submitted in duplicate. Only one copy of Bid Bond will be required.

No Proposal may be withdrawn for a period of eighty (80) days after the date above specified for receiving, opening and reading of proposals.

Notice is given that the project for which construction bids are being solicited hereby, is a project constituting public works and is subject to applicable provisions of the Pennsylvania Prevailing Wage Act, Act of August 15, 1961, P.L. 987, as amended and supplemented, and appropriate prevailing minimum rates as promulgated under provisions of said Act must be paid by contractors in connection with performance of the necessary work.

The East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or parts thereof or items therein and to waive any defects or irregularities in proposals.

BE PREPARED
for the long week-end coming up. Be ready to enjoy nature at its best with a new 1964 APACHE Camping trailer. With the APACHE, you will gain another 2 hours of fun because you do not have to set up a batch of poles, pound stakes, dig trenches, unpack the car, etc., etc. We could take the next 2 columns telling you the advantages of an APACHE, but better yet, come on out and try it yourself. And bring your old tent along. It is worth money on a new APACHE.

KRESGE INDUST. TO OPEN ON 209

Both the industrial and farm line of Allis Chalmers will be merchandised as well as the lawn and garden end which includes the famous B-1 tractor for mowing, and the new B-10 lawn and garden tractor. The new B-10 tractor is a 9 horsepower model and attachments from its earlier counterpart, the B-1, are interchangeable.

Mr. Kresge has stated that he plans to open his new building by June 1st. Extensive renovations are being made now. The new shop will service Allis-Chalmers, International and all make other farm and industrial tractors. A body shop for automobile repair will also be maintained by Mr. Kresge in the same building. This will facilitate body repair and painting for the farm and industrial line too. An announcement for more details on the new center is planned in the near future.

Head Of Pen Argyl's Schools Establishes Jointure Goals

By JIM SHAFER
Slate Belt-West End Reporter

PEN ARGYL — If the definition of dedication could be changed in the dictionary to include the names of men it would include William E. Madden.

Madden is the supervising principal of Pen Argyl Area School District. His life revolves around administrative work in education.

He was named to the post last year by the joint school board and has been working continuously for the betterment of the school so the children attending the various schools in the district will be the ones to benefit.

"I have a definite philosophy about education which consists of various goals, so it would be hard for me to give a one sentence statement to define it," he emphasized.

According to Madden, "My philosophy includes, among other things, a fixed standard of education, a line and staff procedure, evaluation of ourselves —both pupils and teachers — and for teachers to maintain dignity."

"Without a fixed standard there is a tendency for people not to evaluate the true potential of the pupil. This can lead to misguidance of the child.

"The line and staff procedure means that a line of operating procedures is drawn up and adopted and there is a staff to carry out the adopted procedures. Actually this amounts to published procedures so every employe knows what is expected of him and what the duties are. Then they carry them out. This also includes a perpetual inventory system.

"I expect all teachers to maintain their dignity by adhering to all professional standards. One way this can be done is by membership to the better educational organizations."

Madden operates on a long day. He starts at the regular hour he considers proper for all administrators—that is at least a half hour before the teachers start to work. His day ends, at least at present, about midnight when the last appointment to interview a teacher for a position in the system is over.

"I'm not satisfied with my progress," was his answer to a question, 'How much have you accomplished toward your various goals?'

"Some of the goals, or things, I have done so far in my first year here were to publish a table of organization for the school, departmentalize the entire high school, establish district-wide filing system, revise system of establishing budgetary needs, coordinate accounting systems for the general fund, general organization fund, and athletic fund; combine the athletic fund and the general fund, coordinate the systems pertaining to the treatment of requisitions, purchase orders, vouchers, and receipts of shipments.

"Also, we established a system for supplies, equipment, and books; established a perpetual equipment replacement program, established a property record file of equipment and books, established a forms control system, conducted pupil distribution survey, and a transportation study."

These are things he has accomplished, plus the ordinary everyday problems which confront any supervising principal.

38 More Goals

What he does not point out is that he has 38 more goals to reach before his organization and program prospectus is completed.

Madden is no stranger to administration work. Before coming to the Slate Belt community he also was in administrative work.

His first taste of administration came in 1950 when he was a teacher-principal at Greenfield-Kimmel High School in Claysburg, Pa. From there he moved to the high school at Claysburg to become the junior-senior high school principal.

In 1957 he transferred to Lenape Regional High School, Medford, N.J. and became the administrative assistant to the high school principal. In 1960 he became high school principal at Toms River High School, Toms River, N. J.

Madden stayed in Toms River one year before moving to Raritan Township High School, Hazlet, N.J. to become high school principal. Last year he was employed by the Pen Argyl Area School District as its supervising principal.

"I was most fortunate to be elected administrative assistant of Lenape Regional High School District. The situation was unique in that no high school had existed in this 254-square mile area before 1957," he said.

He continued, "This situation further enabled me to incorporate my educational philosophy and theories into an educational program for more than 1,200 students to be housed in a new $2,100,000 plant.

"One of my achievements there, and one I am most proud of, was the functioning creation of both a PTA and a Student Advisory Council even though the school itself did not yet exist."

Another Milestone

Another milestone at Lenape was national recognition resulting in a column written by Jim Bishop, a nationally syndicated news columnist.

Bishop, in his column, had nothing but the highest of praise for the work Madden had done at Lenape High School and for the work he was doing at Raritan Twp. High School.

Bishop wrote, ". . . he didn't want the young ladies to dress immodestly, and he didn't want boys looking like weird copies of Marlon Brando. Some of the parents thought that this had no relation to school work, and that Madden was stepping outside of his authority . . .

"He brought the matter before the nine-person board of education, which found itself in a formal meeting in summer vacation time. The board studied Madden's rules for student dress, formally endorsed the first three paragraphs, and told him publicly that he had their endorsement on the rest . . ."

Even with the local notoriety last November, getting his name in newspapers was nothing new.

"The incident you are referring to started or resulted from the need for a central study hall, something that did not exist in the school. I say this not in criticism of past administrators, it was just overlooked," Madden said.

He pin-pointed, "Before I organized the central hall pupils with a study period just went to any room that was vacant. This in itself is in violation of the school code.

Test Of How Far

"The code says that study halls must be supervised. However, it was new to the pupils and parents. And as pupils, teachers and parents will do, this became a test of how far they could go with me.

"This is a natural reaction to any new person who has been delegated authority. But we talked with the pupils and some of the parents, explaining to them why the action was taken and the entire matter was ironed out satisfactorily in a couple of days."

Madden is dedicated to his work, almost to the point of it being a 24-hour job seven days a week. Like one man asked, "what more can you ask of any person. The results show too."

Northampton Re-elects Demo Chief

EASTON — Recieving only token opposition and with a boost from Rep. Fred B. Rooney, Northampton County Commissioner Martin J. Bechtel of Easton has been elected Democratic county chairman.

Bethtel was elected by a 258-1 vote at a reorganization meeting in the Northampton Courthouse Saturday. He was opposed by Renald S. Barratta, county register and recorder, who has bucked party leadership in the past.

Rooney, who held a proxy vote, placed Bechtel's name in nomination. He was elected to succeed the late Donald S. Sawyer, who resigned the post shortly before his death last year.

Mrs. Mae Smith, party vice chairman, had been filling the vacated post.

Saturday Mrs. Smith withdrew her bid for reelection as vice chairman because she thought it would be unwise to select both top county officials from Easton.

Mrs. Mabel Meixell, vice chairman of the Bethlehem city committee, was elected to succeed Mrs. Smith on the county committee.

Bechtel is also chairman of the Easton city committee and is currently serving his third term as county commissioner. He is an Easton funeral director.

Owner Contains Garage Fire

STROUDSBURG — Alan Ginsberg fought and contained a garage fire at his home with a garden hose while Stroud Twp. firemen sped to the scene yesterday at 12:50 p.m.

The fire of unknown origin was in the garage of Ginsberg's split level home on Norton Rd., near the Glen Brook Country Club, said Raymond Silver, Stroud Twp. Assistant fire chief.

Flammable material atop a disposal container was burning, firemen said. The fire partially destroyed a four - foot by eight-foot wooden panel in the garage.

As an added precaution, firemen removed the remaining wall panel to keep the fire from spreading.

Bond Buyers

STROUDSBURG — Purchases of U.S. Savings Bonds in Pennsylvania during April amounted to $36 million. This brings the total for the year to $149.7 million or 31.3 per cent of the 1964 sales quota.

In Monroe County, April purchases of Series E and H Bonds were $120,275. The total for 1964 is $587,443. Robert F. Davenport is county chairman of the Savings Bonds organization.

Bangor High Choruses Hold Annual Concert

BANGOR — A large audience attended the annual spring concert of the choruses of the junior and senior high schools of the Bangor Area Joint School System Saturday night in the senior high auditorium at Five Points.

The program was under the direction of Miss Sandra Troutman, director of vocal music.

The program featured folk music from the American countryside and presented a program featuring the junior high chorus, barbershop selections by a tonsorial quartette composed of Charles Cole, Walter Emery Walter Cole and Dennis Emerick.

Other selections were sung by the junior high girls, chorus and featured were a series of selections by the Senior High Girls' Chorus and the Mixed Ensemble. Closing numbers were sung by the junior high mixed ensemble.

Accompainst for the junior high groups were Getha Snyder and Brenda Miller while the senior high accompanists were Bruce Lohman and Kathleen Reimer.

Particular honors were accorded to Walter Emery, Walter Cole, both seniors and Richard Lakey a junior for participation in the District, Regional and State choruses.
